Park construction begins May 13

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

The mammoth barnraising effort for the building of the Centennial Park playground begins on May 13 when the entire Antioch community will come together to build a future for the kids of the village.

The Antioch Centennial Playground Committee will pull its resources for the final time this week when construction of Antioch's Centennial Park is set to begin.

With about 600 people committed so far, Centennial Playground Committee Coordinator Ted Axton stressed the need for more help due to the fact that about 12,000 volunteers hours are needed to complete the project by May 17. Presently only 5,000 hours have been committed to the committee, said Axton.

"The support from everyone has been tremendous. We will be able to purchase all of the materials needed through the donation funds," said Axton. "But now we really need everyone's help to construct the playground. I must encourage everyone to call us and come participate. We need your help."

Volunteers can give their support to the playground by calling the committee at 395-1309 or 395-8325.

Volunteer turnout on the weekend is expected to be heavy while construction is going on, but what is really needed is people to commit to a certain number of hours before construction begins.

"We really need people who can help out on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The more people we have, the easier it will be on everyone," said Axton.

The construction of the playground will proceed from early in the morning until the group decides to quit in the (Continued on Page 8)

Regal China closes after fifty years

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

About 140 people will lose their jobs on June 30 when Antioch's Regal China closes its doors after over 50 years in the decanter manufacturing business.

"This has been an extremely difficult decision," said Regal President Andrew Malone. "We explored every viable option to maintain the company as a going business and believe this was the only decision left to make."

The company's main focus over the next two months will be to help its employees and customers through the transition and bring an orderly cease to the company's operations.

Regal plans to provide its employees with various forms of assistance to aid them in their search for other employment.

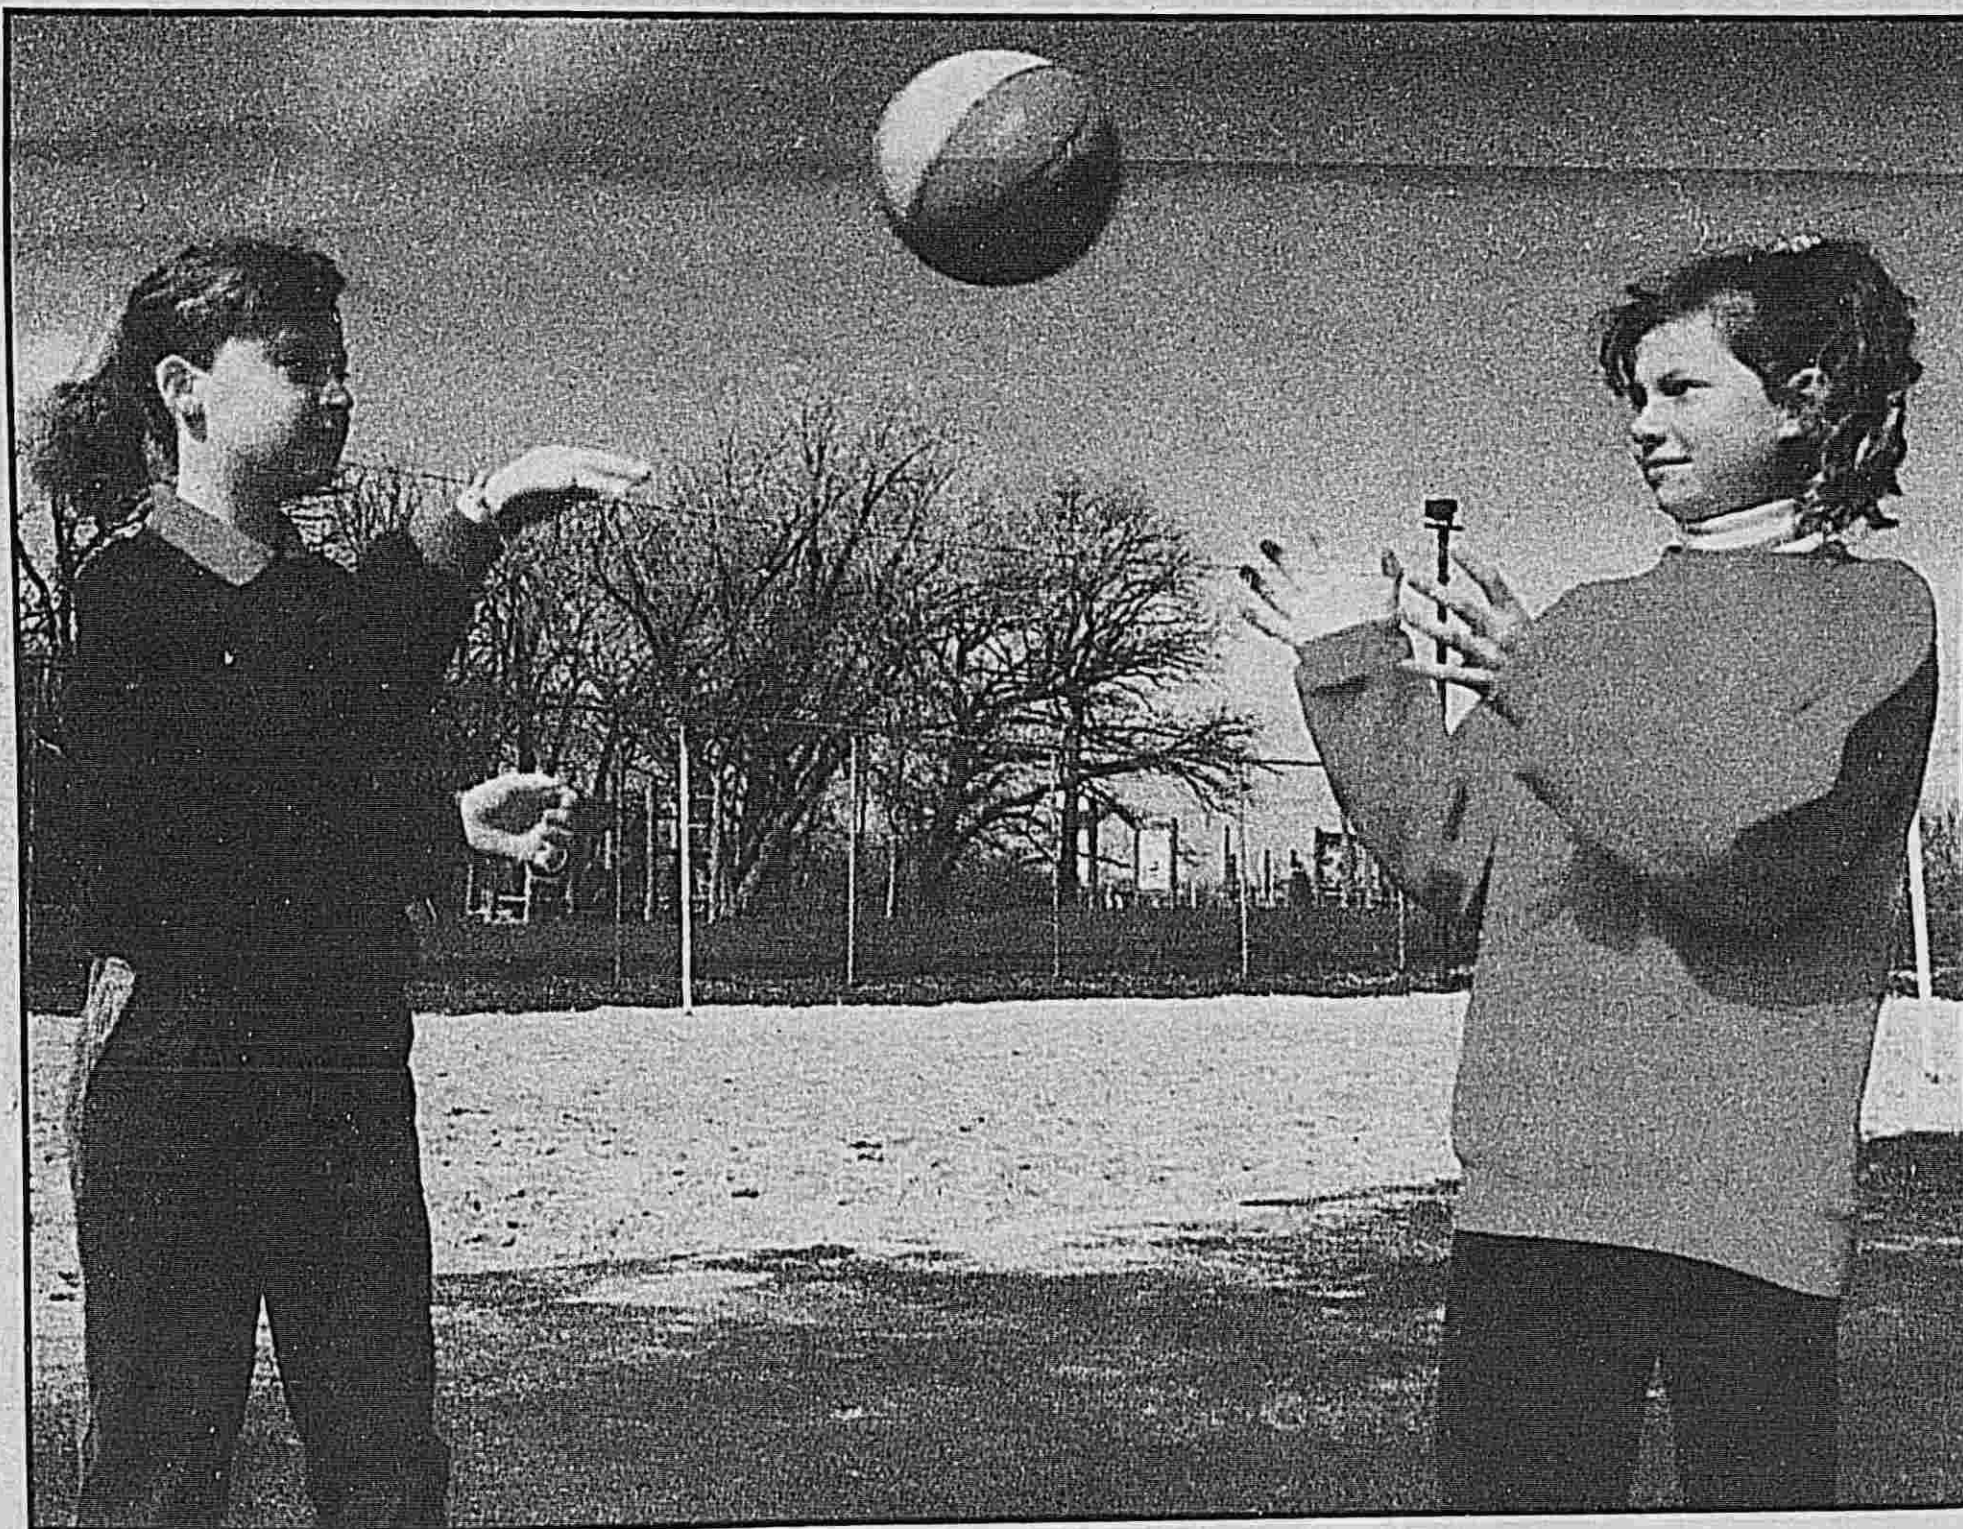

"We care very much for our loyal employees and customers and are taking appropriate steps to help them through this difficult time," said Malone.

Regal manufactures decanters, lamp bases, vases and specialty products at its Antioch plant.

According to Malone, the company's decanter business, which had gross sales in excess of $7 million last year, has been steadily declining over the past decade.

Regal China was purchased by Jim Beam Brands Co. in 1968 to produce liquor decanters for its several brands of liquor.

Software creates 3-D map of village

VERNON HILLS—With new computer technology Vernon Hills officials are considering purchasing, municipal planners can gather all the scattered scraps of papers that represent people and objects they govern, combine the numbers on those papers, and come up with a three-dimensional map of every important thing in their town. Vernon Hills trustees Tuesday approved a $50,000 budget reappropriation with which village staffers expect to eventually purchase a computer "geographic information system." Officials said that by digitizing objects' important data and arranging them according to their actual location in the municipality, GIS systems allow high-speed calculations and identification of trouble spots. "This is the kind of thing that if Chicago had had it, they wouldn't have had their flood," said Village Finance Director Laurence Nakrin.

Board votes down mayor status change

FOX LAKE — A measure which would have boosted the pay and the minimum number of hours spent on the job by Fox Lake's next part-time mayor hit a dead end Monday night. The move would have raised the pay to $15,000 and required the mayor to work at least 20 hours per week. The mayor would have been required to be present at the village hall and available to the public for 10 of those hours.

Wadsworth takes surcharge stand

WADSWORTH—Wadsworth is taking a stand when it comes to the income surcharge funds. The village board adopted a resolution opposing the state's take-back of the state income surcharge funds for municipalities.

Exchangites will welcome leader

GRAYSLAKE—Grayslake Exchange Club members are preparing to welcome the service club's national president. Max Halliday of San Diego will be visiting the area May 14, making stops at the club's luncheon meeting at the Olde Stratford Hall and later dedicating the village hall in Gurnee.

Builder given deadline by zoners

GURNEE—A Gurnee contractor may have to remove a storage barn within a year. That is, if the Gurnee Village Board agrees with a recommendation from Gurnee's Zoning Board of Appeals. The ZBA voted unanimously to grant Lidstrom Construction one year to remove the storage facility. Under the village's appeals process, the firm could have been granted from one to five years. Pending village board action, the deadline for removing the structure is April 2, 1993.

Missy—a plush treasure

Missy

Missy is a two-year-old female short hair Persian mix. This pretty, plush buff/white cat has huge round gold eyes and a pink nose. Her petite round body and darling scamper resembles a bunny more than a cat! Missy is holdable and cuddly but frightened here as the bigger more aggressive cats intimidate her. She will thrive as a companion to another sweet quiet cat or as an only cat. This little one has been longing for a home since July 1991, where she can relax and feel safe. There's a lot of love in Missy's heart. Collar B7.

Buddy, the one-year-old male collie/shep. mix featured April 24 has been adopted.

Villages keep rolling up sales tax revenues

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

For all Lake County communities, sales tax is an important source of revenue. The one percent cut of the state tax people pay when they buy everything from a new or used car to eating out goes a long way toward covering local costs. If not for the sales tax, property taxes would be a lot higher.

According to figures from the Illinois Dept. of Revenue, sales tax receipts for 1991 are about the same as the preceding year. Blamed is the recession, lower car sales and a general belt-tightening by consumers.

Last year, as the year before, some communities like Libertyville, Highland Park and, of course, Waukegan, get the bulk of their sales tax from the sale of automobiles and gas. But Libertyville is still the grand champ in this category—$2,413,439 last year—compared to Highland Park's $2,169, 597 and Waukegan's $1,540,424.

In taxes from food sales, Mundelein led all communities outside Waukegan with receipts of $660,905 last year. Buffalo Grove was close behind with $651,956 from this source and Round Lake Beach a close third with $651,322. Waukegan led the field with $940,362.

Thanks to Great America, Gurnee leads the field, apart from Waukegan, in taxes from drinking and eating places. It collected $463,623 last year. Waukegan's $467,290 was only slightly better.

Gurnee also leads the pack, outside Waukegan, in taxes from building and hardware sales—$427,266 last year. Mundelein ran a close second at $369,448. Waukegan rang up $452,867 from this source.

Hawthorn Center makes Vernon Hills the retail sales giant of Lake County. That source contributed $1,489,056 to the village's sales tax coffers last year. This even excelled Waukegan's $1,109,136 in '91.

Following are 1991 sales tax receipts, by community, in select categories.

Gas tax, impact fees tied to road package

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

Builders will pay new fees for the privilege of constructing homes, offices and apartments in Lake County and motorists will ante up a new 4-cent gas tax as part of a road impact plan to be considered by the County Board next month.

Combined, the money will help improve existing county and state roads, build new ones and, in theory, reduce the gridlock brought on by development.

Builders and developers will be assessed a fee based on the projected impact of their homes, apartments, retail or commercial buildings on adjoining thoroughfares. A County Board advisory committee worked three years with the Lake County Division of Transportation and a $400,000 consultant to develop the schedule.

After three years, this was approved at a May 1 advisory committee meeting. By law, the County Board must take action within 30 to 60 days. The proposal will be considered at the next meeting in June.

By state law, impact fees cannot be used in their entirety to offset road improvements.

Since the county is affected by the state tax cap and has no other source to fund its share of the ordinance, it is counting on new state legislation to allow a 4-cents-per-gallon gas tax. Lake County was excluded from legislation two years ago thanks to the efforts of state Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) and state Rep. John Matijevich (D-North Chicago).

Adjoining collar counties impose such a tax. County legislators now in Springfield are trying to unite behind passage of the legislation yet this month.

Robert Depke, County Board chairman, said the ordinance is meaningless without the gas tax since the county portion cannot be funded. He calls the tax a user fee. Whatever it is called, the tax is projected to yield $9.6 million per year.

Fees range from a one-time payment of $205 for a single-family dwelling and $247 for an apartment to $551 per 1,000 square feet and up for commercial buildings such as a record or video store, $513 per 1,000 square feet for general office buildings and $138 per 1,000 square feet for any type of restaurant.

These are cut dramatically from those presented at an April public hearing where they were severely criticized by business, industry and some developers.

Still to be decided by the County Board is an advisory committee recommendation that Zion and Winthrop Harbor should be exempt from the provisions along with Waukegan and North Chicago. Those four areas are mostly developed.

The ordinance has the support of Martin Buehler, superintendent of the Dept. of Transportation. Depke is believed to have enough support on the County Board to enact the ordinance and the accompanying gas tax.

True Value takes pride in parks and playground

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

Antioch's Centennial Playground will begin to become a reality on May 13 thanks to the help of the entire community and Antioch's True Value Hardware store.

The True Value store, owned by Stan Livermore, has managed the purchase of the materials needed to build the playground in addition to selling t-shirts and giving away tree seedlings for planting.

"Our management team has served as the buyers of materials needed for the project," said Livermore. "Items like lumber, tires and wood sealers are just some of the $50,000 in materials purchased for the playground."

This major role in the construction of the playground is just a part of what Livermore has contributed to the effort.

"They have been an immense help and been a big contributor," said Centennial Playground Chairman Ted Axton.

His True Value store also features a display informing his customers about the playground and provides the opportunity for the purchase of a Centennial Playground t-shirt, of which the funds go directly to the playground.

Further, the store has donated over $1,000 in materials and supplies for use during construction of the playground.

"It has been a big project and a perfect tie-in with our national campaign," said Livermore.

"Pride in our parks" is a national True Value Hardware campaign where local True Value Hardware stores are encouraged to improve the environmental awareness of their customers through the use of national advertising and public relations campaigns and local promotions.

"The environment has become a hot issue now," said Livermore. "Tree planting and becoming environmentally sound is what the promotion is about. We presently sell products and materials that serve to protect our environment."

During this promotion, Livermore's store will be handing out 1,000 pine tree seedlings to anyone who requests one and has a place to plant it. The store has already given away most of the 1,000 seedlings it started with on April 20. According to Livermore, the store still has about 200 to give away yet.

"We are pleased to participate in these programs. It is only by developing a sense of pride in our local environment and local projects like the playground, that we can begin to face the environmental and community challenges that lie ahead," said Livermore.

Subscription drive to benefit new playground

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

The fund raising effort for the building of the Centennial Park playground continues until May 15 when the Antioch News-Reporter helps provide "100 years of playtime" to the children of Antioch.

The News-Reporter, from now through May 15, will donate $5 from every new subscription or one-year renewal, of the Antioch News-Reporter, at the regular rate of $16.50 a year, to the Centennial Playground Fund.

Names of participating subscribers will be published in a future issue of the News-Reporter in celebration of Antioch's 100th birthday.

"We have had tremendous response from everyone in the community," said

Centennial Playground Committee Coordinator Ted Axton.

The construction of the playground is scheduled from May 13-17, rain or shine.

The playground will be built in the "old-fashioned barnraising style" with the help of the Robert S. Leathers Architects group.

Fund raising for construction will continue up to the building date. The Committee needs about $60,000 to pay for the project, but expects that the park will be worth some $150,000 after completion due to the cost of labor, which will be done strictly by volunteers from the community.

"Our key push is our fund raising and volunteer efforts right now. We need everyone's help," said Axton.

Grass Lake parents want accountability

An organized group of people in the community are requesting a special public school board meeting to be held in the Grass Lake School gym as soon as possible before the scheduled May 12 board meeting. The Board of Education, being elected as representatives for the community, has an obligation to listen to and address these concerns. To date questions and concerns have not been respectfully answered or addressed. That a time and place needs to be set aside for everyone to be able to discuss the following issues exclusively without the interference of the typical school business.

The issues are:

1. Not to hire a principal at this time. Grass Lake School does not need a principal as much as it needs quality teachers. The superintendent should easily be able to fulfill all the administrative duties at a school of this size and is well paid to do so.
2. Mrs. Nolan to be tenured. The school cannot afford to chance losing an excellent teacher.

3. Low student to teacher ratios as promised.

4. The next school year curriculum established and teacher positions assigned prior to the end of the current fiscal year so that our children's education will not be disrupted at the beginning of the next school year.

5. All currently laid off teachers that are needed to fill next year positions to be rehired or replaced by the end of the current fiscal year. Teachers with proven qualifications and performance should not be replaced with unknown teachers.

6. To establish an effective Gifted Student Program.

In addition a request to be provided with the following information:

1. A copy of the current year and the next year school budget.
2. The superintendent's current contract.
3. Job descriptions for the superintendent and principal positions.

Playground

evening, "rain or shine."

A typical day will run from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. or so with breakfast, lunch, dinner and breaks provided to workers, depending on the shift or number of shifts they work.

"We will have portable lights and power available if we have to work in the dark due to the fact the Leathers' group feels that we need to be at a certain point in the construction by the end of Friday," said Axton.

The playground, located in what is now called Centennial Park, will be built in the "old-fashioned barnraising style" by the Robert S. Leathers Architects group, who have designed some 650 similar but unique playgrounds around the United States in the past 20 years.

The playground design is unique to Antioch because it was designed from ideas given to the Leathers group in October by the local children who will use the facility.

The Committee raised about $60,000 to pay for the project, but expects that the park will be worth some $150,000 after completion due to the cost of labor, which will be done strictly by volunteers from the community.

Axton said everyone will be able to help out in the construction of the playground.

"If you can put a little nail in a little board and a big nail in a big board, you are qualified to give us a hand," said Axton.

Various fund raising efforts have been ongoing to help pay for the playground.

Fund raisers include the selling of t-shirts, bricks, boards and a "Centennial man" contest hosted by the Junior Women's Club.

Local businesses got into the act as well. From the local newspaper to the local grocery store, many Antioch businesses participated and donated to this unique event.

"Various local restaurants are providing the meals we will be serving to the workers," said Axton.

The various local restaurants and clubs that will donate food to feed the volunteers during the construction are: Antioch Junior Women's Club, Antioch Women's Club, Beans Taco Town, Burger King, Coca-Cola Company, Country, Dimarco's, Domino's Pizza, McDonalds, Mama Nucho's Pizza, Maravela's, Marriot Food Services, Nice Ice, Orval Kent Food Co., Pizza Plus, Quality Catering, Weasel's Restaurant.

"I was very pleased. Everyone I've spoke to has been very helpful," said Food Chairperson Linda Pedersen.

Simulated space shuttle flights a success for kids

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

Space is the final frontier and several area elementary and middle school students felt like real space pioneers on May 5 when the first of several planned space simulation missions blasted off.

Antioch Upper Grade School, along with Emmons School and Grass Lake School, participated in the unique science event that has become more popular across the United States due to an effort to improve American student's math and science knowledge.

AUGS has just completed its second year participating in the simulated shuttle launch program, while Grass Lake students experienced space travel for the first time last week.

The simulated space shuttle missions, one of which was an overnight stay for both Grass Lake and AUGS, enabled the student astronauts to experience what it feels like to be in space, except for the weightlessness.

For the AUGS astronauts, their day began with a send-off breakfast at 6 a.m. followed by a pre-launch assembly in the gym at 8 a.m.

"Sure it was early," said Erica Bonovitz of Lindenhurst. "But I'm having fun and learning a lot."

AUGS's first of five missions, which was for sixth- and seventh-graders, included a visit to a foreign planet, the roof of the school, to take soil and water samples and a visit from the media.

"We had some minor problems earlier but the kids are enjoying themselves," said AUGS Science Department Chair Bob Brown.

The five eight-hour missions at AUGS originated from the school's shuttle simulator placed in the library.

However, having fun while learning was also the motto at Grass Lake School where their student astronauts participated in simulated shuttle missions from their own shuttle parked in the basement of the old school house.

After receiving a send-off from fellow classmates in a pre-launch assembly, Daniel Clarke, the mission commander of Grass Lakes' first 12-hour mission, lead his crew to the orbiter and wished them luck before taking his post at mission control.

"It's neat," said Clarke.

Shuttle co-coordinators Ted Gavlin and Norma Rubash were just as thrilled with how everything turned out.

"We're happy with everything so far," said Gavlin. "We would just like to thank the parents who made this possible."

The simulated shuttle missions, based on real shuttle mission schedules and data, will parallel real NASA missions through the use of computers, video cameras and telephones.

"Anyone will be able to watch what is going on inside the shuttle through a video link-up and a television in the Mission Control Center," said Brown.

AUGS astronauts even had the experience to try real astronaut food in the form of freeze-dried fruit.

"I liked the strawberry the best," said Chris Wirsing, a seventh grader from Lindenhurst.

Computer programs and modems enabled the crew to get real weather maps and other information necessary for the authenticity of the simulation.

Numerous volunteers for park still needed

by LIZ SCHMEHL
(708)395-5380

Antioch's Centennial Playground is almost a reality, all it needs to push it further into being is a few more giving volunteers. This is an exciting time in our "Hometown" with Antioch turning 100 years old and literally thousands of people pulling together to make the dreams and ideas of the children come true. This playground is the architect's compilation of the ideas of many of our area children. The playground will also be accessible to the differently abled.

More bodies are needed for construction as well as more tools. You name it and it is needed - hammers (people) - screwdrivers (people) - clamps (people) - levels (people) - drills (people) - saws (people) - etc. The scheduled construction dates are May 13, 14, 15, 16 and 17. If you can work all of those days, or one, or two, or even a few hours, your help is definitely needed and will be appreciated by many.

A little birdie told me it is supposed to be warm, sunny and slightly breezy on these particular five days in May. What a wonderful opportunity to breathe the fresh air, soak up the sun, chit chat with your friends and neighbors, and have a hand in being part of the history of Antioch. You may volunteer your much needed services by calling (708)395-2500 or 395-1309. When your call is answered just ask "Do you need more volunteers for the construction of the Centennial Playground?" If you aren't told "We certainly do!" then I am not "The Lizard!"

Board meeting

The April meeting of the Grass Lake School Board of Education was well attended. Many agenda items were discussed and/or voted on. Superintendent Dr. Ruth Bill felt the following board actions or discussions would be of the most interest to the general public. The board approved seeking a contract with Children's World to operate a before-and-after school program at the school. Board member, Sally Hiller, was recognized and applauded for receiving a Level II award from IASB (Illinois Assn. of School Boards). Hiller received this award for her attendance at IASB educational workshops, seminars and conventions.

The 1991-92 school-year calendar was amended showing June 8 as the final day of school due to unused snow days.

Ending

Well, that's it for this week. However, I am sitting on another raccoon sighting story that took place in Eagle River because it is quite lengthy and I am waiting for a not so newsy week to include it. Enjoy your spring by getting out in the yard to plant those flowers of bushes. I'll be waiting for your calls and when you do call "Remember to Ask for the Lizard!" Keep reading and soon the raccoon story will appear.

Letter to the Editor

Volunteers needed

Editor:

We have received tremendous community support in our fund-raising efforts to build the Antioch Centennial Playground, including the support of the Antioch News Reporter contributing $5 for each new and renewed subscription. We are confident we will raise all the funds necessary to purchase the needed material that was not donated.

Now we need volunteers, lots of volunteers! This is not a chauvinistic project; we need lots of women and men, both skilled and unskilled, to sign up now!

Our work schedule, rain or shine, Wednesday, May 13 through Sunday, May 17 is: 7 to 8 a.m., breakfast; 8 a.m. to noon, morning shift; noon to 12:30 p.m., lunch; 12:30 to 5 p.m., dinner; 5:30 to 9 p.m., evening shift.

We will be serving breakfast, lunch and dinner to the workers. Child care, "children's camp," with different themes each day is available for children ages three and up who are potty trained. Children 10 and over can work along side a parent at the construction site. Additional volunteers to help with child care would be welcome.

There is plenty of room for lots more volunteers:

Wednesday, room available but looks pretty good.

Thursday, need about 30 more on each shift and encourage additional carpenters and skilled volunteers as well as unskilled.

Friday, need about 50 more on each shift.

Saturday, need about 250 more on each shift.

Sunday, need about 250 more on the morning and afternoon shifts.

Please call (708)395-1309, 395-8325 or 395-2500 to volunteer.

Kids dress up to celebrate May Day

by THOMAS STEVENS

Traditional May Day celebrations limit themselves to May poles and the like, but Grass Lake School continues to use the day to have fun while also teaching that reading is fun too.

Reading teacher Barb Coia began the May Day project last year in an effort to get the kids excited about reading by dressing up like their favorite characters in those books.

"It's been fun," said Coia. "Almost half the kids participated this year."

Students who participated received a candy treat as well as the fantasy of acting like their favorite character, at least for a day.

Lindbloom, Sequoits knock off Warhawks

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

In every losing season, there are your silver linings. Leading the way for Antioch High's baseball team is pitcher Keith Lindbloom.

Lindbloom picked up his third win of the season, improving to 3-5 as Antioch blitzed North Chicago 15-4 Tuesday. Lindbloom has all but one of Antioch's wins in a 17-game season.

"Keith is just a great kid. He is fundamentally sound and is a hard worker both on and off the field," Antioch Coach Greg Decker said.

Lindbloom will not be confused with the Mets' Dwight Gooden any time soon. "He has pretty close to pin-point control. He is a finesse pitcher. He doesn't have a fastball that can blow by people," Decker said.

Lindbloom struckout only two but walked just one against North Chicago in the five-inning game.

Several players had strong bats against the winless Warhawks as Antioch improved to 4-13, 2-9 in the NSC. Pat Gras was one-for-three with two runs scored and two RBIs; Brian Smith was two-for-three with one run scored and two RBIs; Eric Blahah was one-for-three with one run scored and two RBIs; Tony Chesla was two-for-two with three runs scored and one RBI; Adrian Picard was two-for-three with two runs scored and two RBI and Pat Duggan was two-for-three with one run scored and two RBI.

"It was nice to win one. We have Mundelein next week (May 12 there, May 14 home) and we should be able to take two from them. Hopefully this will be a part of the schedule we should be more comparable with," Decker said.

Mundelein started the week winless in the NSC.

Antioch faces Northwest Suburban Conference leading Round Lake May 11.

NAACP stresses not violent, but not silent

by RHONDA VINZANT
Lakeland Newspapers

The fires of Los Angeles may be smoldering thousands of miles away but the impact of America's most violent civil unrest in 75 years is rocking Lake County as well.

At a press conference, members of the North Chicago chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), which services all of Lake County, joined with community leaders, law enforcement personnel and local citizens to keep peace in the wake of the "not guilty" verdict in the case of motorist Rodney King.

Gathering on the west steps of the Lake County Building, the coalition members stood in unity in the chilly May wind, while NAACP President Charles Bridgemon delivered his remarks entitled, "Not violent, but not silent," to a diverse crowd of citizens who had gathered to show their support.

"We feel that the verdict (in the Rodney King case) is unfair and we demand a thorough investigation that will result in true justice," said Bridgemon. "The pride of a nation has been damaged but not our spirit. People of all races deserve the best of everything. Too many lives have already been given and brutally taken. We thank you for the opportunity to get together in this place and pray for those members that are lost."

The coalition comprised church leaders, Waukegan Police Chief Phillip Stevenson, Reverend L.R. Davis and many other elected public officials, former gang members, clergy and community leaders from the North Chicago, Waukegan and Zion communities.

"The coalition will remain together to improve communications among multi-ethnic groups in the Lake County area, and to utilize churches and social organizations to provide services, programs and positive directions for our young people and to assure that positive results do exist for difficult problems," Bridgemon said. "The coalition's message is upbeat, positive, and one of hope and continued calm and reasonableness in our neighborhoods."

The coalition has already stepped in to stop violence in the county according to Bridgemon. "We did get word over the weekend, that some of our young people we're planning riots and things on Monday afternoon," he said. "Through the efforts of the coalition we were able to talk with these young people and explain to them that violence is not the answer. We are thankful for that."

The NAACP began receiving calls from outraged citizens soon after the verdict was announced last week. "The emotions were so hot, that we knew we had to do something to try and come up with solutions," Bridgemon said. "The coalition was a way to unify our communities."

A copy of the coalition's message was sent to churches and schools throughout the area. "We want young people and all citizens to realize that we as a people have more in common if we stay together than if we fight each other," Bridgemon said. "We are asking them to talk about their feelings and discuss them." The coalition is asking for community members, families, churches and school leaders to pull together in unity to support and educate young people.

For police here, L.A. is reminder, not warning

by DAN BERNARD
Lakeland Newspapers

While some say the acquittals of police officers in the Rodney King case are spreading distrust of law-enforcers across the country, officials here said police have earned the trust of Lake County residents and expect to keep it.

Charges of police brutality are relatively uncommon in Lake County, said many police officials and attorneys interviewed. That should not change because of events on the West Coast, they said.

"You can't even compare Lake County with that business in Los Angeles," said North Chicago Police Chief Ernest Fisher. "Our judicial system is so far above theirs that it would never get that far."

'It underscores the fact that police administrators have to take a very clear position on where they stand on the use of force. Then officers don't have any unclear signals.'

—Vernon Hills Police Chief
Gary Kupsak

But many said the anxiety sparked by the case should send a message to commanding officers in police departments everywhere: Make sure your police force knows you will not tolerate excessive force.

"Police officers need the support of their chief, but when they're wrong, you have to have the integrity to show them that what's important is doing their job right," Kupsak said.

Most of the officials interviewed said they were uneasy with the across-the-board not-guilty verdicts for the Los Angeles officers, which left the impression that justice might have been fully served.

All police officials contacted said a beating like that shown on the Rodney King videotape would not be tolerated in their departments. North Chicago police even use the videotape of King's beating in training as an example of how not to treat arrestees, Fisher said. Officials at other departments contacted said they had not incorporated the tape into training.

And although the violence that followed the acquittals exposed deep tension between white and black Americans, many officials said there will be little effect here on relations between police and residents.

"For police officers, there are always going to be situations that are tense," said Lake County Deputy State's Attorney Steven McCollum. "But that's true of anyone else who's doing a job."

"Through the years, there are always going to be incidents" like the rioting in Los Angeles and the anger toward police that accompanied it, said Round Lake Beach Police Sgt. David Ostertag. "But it's a cycle, and things calm down."

If race-related violence were to flare anywhere in the county, it would most likely be in urban centers such as Waukegan and North Chicago, said Wauconda Police Sgt. Dan Quick.

But some said police here should not take peaceful relations for granted.

Although Lake County does not have the crisis of social problems like that of Los Angeles, organized violence "could happen anywhere, I guess," said Vernon Hills' Kupsak. Police "do our job through the voluntary compliance of citizens—not because we have guns or PR-24s (batons)."

Police brutality cases are rare in Lake County, said county state's attorney's officials.

"It doesn't happen as often as people might think," said state's attorney's prosecutor George Strickland. "It's easy to point the finger, but most police are trying to do a good job."

Of those few officers prone to abuse citizens, "most would tend to be weeded out" by their superiors, Strickland said.

Most attorneys and police officials contacted agreed that almost 90 percent of brutality complaints are never aired publicly, either because they appear unfounded or because the officers are disciplined internally.

Police officials are not required by law but are strongly encouraged to report police-brutality complaints to the state's attorney's office, McCollum said. When police officials do make such a report, the state's attorney's office investigates the allegation independently from the police department's probe.

But the state's attorney decides to seek criminal charges against officers only if he believes there is enough evidence to convict them, McCollum said.

McCollum believes police officials across Lake County are forthright when they encounter brutality complaints, he said.

Police brutality cases rare in county's courts

by DAN BERNARD
Lakeland Newspapers

Law-enforcement officials say police brutality cases are few and far between in Lake County. Including a still-pending lawsuit accusing Round Lake Beach police in a 1990 incident (see story on Page 26), officials at the state's attorney's office and local police departments said they were aware of only four excessive-force cases that have gone to court in the last six years. In two cases that ended in officers' convictions, beatings were captured on videotape. In a third, officers were acquitted.

• April 1986, North Chicago: Two white North Chicago officers beat a black man in custody at a police booking room, and the event is videotaped by a police dispatcher through a surveillance camera. Officers Timothy Belec and Vito Stonis admit beating a man they had arrested for loitering and whom they said resisted arrest and directed threats and racial insults at them. The officers resign, plead guilty to official misconduct and are sentenced to six months work-release imprisonment and 30 months probation.

Comparing this videotape with the tape of the Rodney King beating illustrates that police brutality is a minor issue in Lake County, said North Chicago Police Chief Ernest Fisher. "There wasn't even a tenth of the violence committed there that was committed in the Los Angeles beating," Fisher said.

• Summer 1987: Hainesville/Round Lake: A white Hainesville patrolman beats a motorcyclist in a holding cell at the Round Lake police station, and again the incident is videotaped by a police dispatcher. In court, Patrolman Edward Gregorson admits beating a white man he had arrested for drunk-driving, a man with an artificial leg. Gregorson pleads guilty to official misconduct.

Gregorson is sentenced in 1988 to six months of work-release, 300 hours of community service, 30 months probation and psychiatric examination, according to county state's attorney's officials. After Gregorson, a former Park City policeman, is charged, other residents complain to attorneys that he had verbally abused or otherwise harassed them; those claims produce no charges.

The prosecutor who argued on behalf of the motorcyclist said having a videotape of the crime was a powerful asset. "A picture damn sure speaks stronger than my words," said Pat Quilty, a former state's attorney's prosecutor now in private practice. "It's one thing for a guy to say he got beat up, but to see it actually happen on videotape makes it hard to ignore."

• October 1989, Mundelein: Three white Mundelein officers witness a domestic fight Oct. 1, 1989, and attempt to arrest one of the participants, a black woman. According to police, the woman becomes verbally abusive toward the officers, and as officers attempt to arrest her, she falls and fractures her arm. In March 1992, a federal court jury finds the officers not guilty of brutality.

Mundelein Police Chief Wallace Frasier said the acquittals confirmed his belief that his officers understand the appropriate uses of force.

Ft. Sheridan charade

Looking more and more like a done deal, the future of Fort Sheridan is expected to remain mostly under federal government control—just like it has for the last 100 years or so. The Pentagon request for input from the public is turning out to be so much hot air, much to the chagrin of sincere Lake County citizens who worked on drafting new uses for the venerable installation after the Army leaves next year.

Sec. of Defense Richard Cheney apparently has decided that Navy families from Great Lakes Naval Training Center will be given space for 329 housing units, 120 acres will be allocated for a military cemetery and the Reserve Center on the west side will remain as is. The Pentagon magnanimously is leaving about 120 acres for acquisition by local governments.

Cheney, of course, could have made that decision from the start, thus eliminating the charade that saw members of the site planning commission led by Congressman John Porter from jumping through hoops for more than two years. All along, the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. has had high hopes of acquiring fort property to add to the county preserve system. That may still come to pass, but not in the dimensions as originally thought.

Despite the fact that a lot of people are angry over Cheney's decision, continued federal government dominance of Fort Sheridan isn't all bad. With the exception of the Navy housing area, the land is expected to remain pretty much as it is, a forested enclave overlooking a pristine Lake Michigan beach. Local use likely will be devoted to park or recreation purposes.

Fort Sheridan is a priceless public asset and an environmental jewel that might have fallen into private hands to be turned into a shopping center or a housing development for the wealthy. What didn't happen is more important than what happened.

Big change maker

Despite an angry electorate, unhappiness with incumbents and growing support for term limitation legislation, a procedure integral to the election process—redistricting—is doing more to change the faces in public office than all of the above.

State-wide, the Illinois primary saw 16 General Assembly incumbents being toppled. Democrats lost 10 and the Republicans lost six. Six of the 10 Democrats went into retirement as the direct result of head-on collisions brought on by redistricting.

An additional five incumbents will lose their seats in November as a result of facing incumbents of the opposite party. One of the five will be in Lake County where Rep. John Matijevich (D-Waukegan) and Rep. Virginia Fiester Frederick (R-Lake Forest) square off in a new east county district.

The 88th General Assembly convening next year will be a much different body. At least 18 of the 59 Illinois senators will be new members. Forty of the 118 members of the House will be newcomers. From a partisan perspective, the GOP has an excellent chance of gaining a majority of the Senate and an outside chance of capturing the House.

Displacement of the Democratic majority will mean a new agenda for legislative proposals currently in the hopper such as striker replacement, property tax classification, universal health care, family/medical leave, state spending in general and school funding in particular, especially if voters approve a Constitutional amendment this fall on education funding.

Things will be different and the big change maker was there all the time, redistricting.

Performing good deeds signal of this mom

by VIRGINIA PARK

I want you all to know Isabell Weidner Blocks, a lifelong resident of Vernon Township, if you haven't already made her acquaintance, and because she has been an exceptional mother and friend, not just to her own family but to hundreds, yes, hundreds of others through the years, I will delineate just one little incident in her noteworthy life.

In a contest to be the "Mom to go to Viet Nam", promoted by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Gold Star Mothers in Waukegan, she was sponsored by the Aptakisic-Tripp Community Club of that school. She was excited and happy to be selected as one of the top 10 county contenders in March 1966.

Then in a home talent show in the Waukegan High School she was announced as the winning "Mom", and given a dozen red roses and a dozen yellow roses.

"I just couldn't believe it," she told me. However, the actual trip was never taken, as the Army felt it could not provide sufficient security for safe conduct on account of the war...

Those of us who know Isabell can vouch for her worthiness. She is a person to whom all sorts of awards are in order. With one son of her own in the armed forces, she sent baked goods and letters to him and his friends. She even requested lists of boys at the front who might not receive much mail, and wrote and wrote and wrote and wrote to all whom she could reach. When she heard of someone who needed a kind word or a letter from someone who cared, she wrote to him. She did and she does care about so very many.

She tells me she is still receiving letters and cards from boys to whom she has written—from Brussels, from Germany, from all over the United States.

Viewpoint

Lousy politics underscore riot scene in L.A.

By BILL SCHROEDER

Los Angeles police dept. must have been suffering "blue flu" when mobs took over parts of the city following the stunning Rodney King verdict, leaving the rest of America agape.

Questions about what was going on in L.A. official circles continue to burn long after the ashes of violence cooled following the surprising outcome of the police brutality trial that gripped Americans from coast to coast.

Riot questions were on the lips of the nation for days. Everyone we talked to was in agreement on one point: Four cops on trial were wrong and the rioters were wrong. We saw that with own eyes. In this case, no interpretations needed.

L.A. officialdom and the cops bungled badly. The Simi Valley trial was no secret. What preparations for extra law enforcement were made for a predictable reaction to a predictable verdict? L.A.P.D. reacted to initial outbreaks of violence like moon walkers wading through quicksand. All street cops working the troubled area should have had advance warning of a major rumble. "Working" tipsters is S.O.P. for lawmen. There's reason to believe that the California National Guard should have been brought in sooner.

Chalk this gaff up to politics—Democratic mayor, Republican governor. The only police response with plausibility is the reluctance to use deadly force after all hell broke loose. A law enforcement agency awash in blood would serve no purpose in the future. Besides, the mob was doing enough killing.

Sorry. Black and white liberals need not hang another guilt trip on America over the gut-wrenching plundering and murder in central Los Angeles. When a black mayor and a white police chief don't communicate for 13 months chaos can be expected in time of crisis.

Relations between the races only improve when relations between elected officials improve, no matter what their ethnic background.

Los Angeles is morally corrupt, inept local government, not a nation at fault.

STILL LOOKING---A reader called to report that Buddy, the friendly long-haired dog featured in a recent Pet of the Week, is back at Orphans of the Storm waiting for another adoption. The family that took him home discovered allergy problems and was forced to return him. Let's hope Buddy's luck changes.

DOG ADVICE---Remember the letter to the editor from the Lake Villa resident who lamented the decision to destroy a pet because of a neighborhood conflict?

Well, the mail is running against the writer. To sum up, a majority of the responses received in the newsroom feel the writer had no business letting a pet run at large. One woman wrote that she was so angry after reading the letter, that she began shaking. "What a shame this animal had to be destroyed because of his owner's lack of responsibility," the pet lover wrote.

So the advice of readers is: Tie up or lock up. But keep your dogs at home!

Reminds me of a comment I made recently to a neighbor. "I think you're over fertilizing your pfiters." "No," was the stern reply. "Our neighbor's dog uses our evergreens as a bathroom." The mutt had turned the planting into a manure pile.

WHERE TO BE---If you're fond of prep basketball, nostalgia or bratwurst, the crossroads village of Hebron in McHenry County will be the place to be Saturday, Aug. 22. That's the date of a town-wide celebration for the 40th anniversary of Hebron's winning the Illinois state basketball championship.

All of the starters on that fabled team will be present to celebrate, the fabulous Judson twins, Phil and Paul; big Bill Schulz, the center; Ken Spooner and Donnie Wilbrandt. The varsity contained only 10 players out of the school's enrollment of about 50. They'll spin yarns and enjoy corn and brats with all their former fans who stop by.

*****

MOVING UP---Speaking of the Judsons, Columnist Don Peasley in the Northwest Herald reports that Phil's son, Rob, is a candidate for the head coaching job at Western Illinois University. After starring at the University of Illinois, Rob got off to a good start coaching at Wauconda High School only to get shot down in a staff cutback. The Judsons have legions of friends in Lake County.

Keep dogs at home

Editor:

Because of the "humiliation of dealing with the police, the animal control or the courts, never knowing who I had wronged," Mrs. Sinkovec bewails the "terrible decision" (implying Euthanasia) she felt she was forced to make regarding her dog--guilty of slipping out of his yard and trespassing on neighboring property whenever the gate was accidentally left open.

Instead of disposing of the dog, the humane remedy would have been to insure his confinement to his own yard by means of a kennel, dog run or dog trolley. Neighbors too have rights.

I find disturbing the statement that "he didn't get a lot of attention." Love for animals requires more than the provision of food and shelter. Having myself recently undergone a similar traumatic experience, I share the humiliation at being forced to appear in court at the summons in my case of a spiteful neighbor.

On the positive side, I have nothing but the highest regard for the Lake County Animal Control Division and the Wauconda Court and can attest to the professional and courteous treatment I received from both Judge Mullen and Warden Ross. The name of my accuser was given on both occasions and I faced her in court. There I was given the opportunity to present my side of the case and to show that I had taken steps to keep my dog on my premises, to wit, repairing my fence (even though the damage had been caused by that neighbor's bulldozer), and erecting kennels at a cost of $1,500.

Not suitable park site

Editor:

Regarding a condemnation lawsuit against 6.8 acres industrial zoned property in Rondout, I have examined the property and it consists of concrete foundations from a grainery mill, wetlands, and a few scrub trees at no value.

I have since found out that plans for the property include building a manufacturing plant that will recycle used plastic. Following are seven reasons why the property should not be condemned:

1. Save taxpayers money on legal fees.
2. Construction of a factory that will create many jobs.
3. A factory that will create in excess of 100 jobs.
4. Will create more tax revenue for the Forest Preserve.
5. Will create tax revenue for the school district.
6. The factory will recycle used plastic materials.
7. Waste management could deliver plastics it receives for recycling.

I believe strongly in the purposes of the Lake County Forest Preserve, but I sincerely believe this condemnation plan deserves more thought.

Who wants Roney Farm?

Editor:

In attempting to work with the C & H Developers, the Village Board of Wauconda has shown some strength in directing the massive development to work within the standards of the village, but there seems to be a lack of understanding, by some members, on how this development will influence the future of Wauconda.

The developers have continually threatened to take their development elsewhere, but testimony given by planner Chris Miller of Round Lake and Round Lake Park stated that he has never been contacted by C & H and that neither village would be accessible to this property. Miller also stated that his contact with the Village of Lakemoor proved that they too would be unable to reach this property because of Volo's incorporation. All three villages show one acre or larger lots for this area on their comprehensive plans.

The developer is making false threats in the hopes of pushing Wauconda into approving the plan. It is not worth having this development, or any other, at the expense of subverting from village ordinances and standards.

If Wauconda is to pursue an expansion of corporate boundaries, they should adopt a regional plan that considers the surrounding land uses and preserves Wauconda's atmosphere before any annexation or re-zoning. The present plan for the Roney Farm does not do that and the developers interest to subvert from the present village standards and bulk regulations (including the wetland ordinance) does not even give township residents the same benefits that village residents take for granted.

The community of Wauconda is much larger than the corporate limits and the village board of Wauconda is responsible to a greater number of individuals than those who were able to vote them into office. I would hope that the village board would see that C & H is not interested in negotiating their plan to fit the village plan and guidelines which show only 400 units (the county would only allow 90 units at present or 200 with re-zoning).

2 trustees uphold code

Editor:

Bravo for Wauconda trustees trying to hold the fort of integrity for homeowners and our city's standard code.

It's a great feeling to have men like Leroy Hempel and Richard Stanger. They never gave an inch to the developer. They did not sit on the board to please C&H, but to please the taxpayers who put them on the job.

We citizens hired a qualified landplanner, Alan Kracower. Shouldn't we listen to his advice instead of C&H?

Some trustees might like to play golf, but the homeowners and school, police, fire and water departments should not carry the burden.

Downtown forsaken

Editor:

For many years now I have been a proud Antioch resident who enjoyed going downtown and being able to say "isn't it great to have a quaint old fashioned downtown here?" But now I look around and all of a sudden I see that wonderful old town feeling leaving.

I truly believe most people moved to Antioch because it was a community which held on to old time values. It was a community that wasn't overtaken by the large urban-type atmosphere of a Palatine or a Schaumburg. Nor was it a bedroom community where people lived but shopped and worked elsewhere.

But as I stop to look at our community now, I see a drastic change that I'm not comfortable with. We have now lost three major stores in just a few years; Barnstables, Carousel, and now Globe. Nothing has replaced them. We need to ask ourselves why.

Everyone needs to understand that our businesses can't survive without our help. We move to Antioch for the town, then we immediately get in our cars and head for the malls! Our town and our schools need the tax revenues that our businesses generate. Without that the businesses fold, our taxes go up, and we begin looking like the town we tried to move away from.

We can't use the excuse that the malls are cheaper. Of course a large chain store is cheaper, they buy in volume while our family owned stores buy in very small quantity. But adding in gas, time, energy, and the tax dollars lost by shopping out of town, I think the cost difference is justified.

If outside businesses see that our present businesses are prospering, then maybe we will attract more stores into Antioch. The next time you go out of town to make a purchase, close your eyes and picture a downtown made up of nothing but offices.

Remember, the business owners are the ones spending countless hours promoting all the fun things such as Santa's Castle, the Easter Bunny, Taste of Antioch, all parades and more. They deserve our support, and with it, Antioch can remain a quaint place to live.

Politicians tell lies

Editor:

What are the politicians telling us? They tell us the increased tax base created by the hordes of people moving into the developments will pay for the schools and roads.

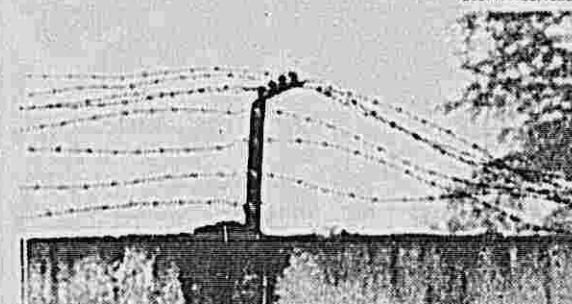

This is an out and out lie. The increase in the tax base cannot support the increased costs. Our taxes will have to go up. We are going to pay for this political folly. The politicians are telling us they want to raise our gas tax by four percent. Why should we have to pay for their greed. They want to extend Rte. 53 to ease traffic congestion. They also want to make this extension a tollroad! Again, they expect us to pay for their irresponsibility.

Why are they so vehemently opposed to an impact fee proportional to the increased cost to sustain this population increase, the fairest method of paying for this development? They don't want the developers or the people buying these homes to pay the additional costs. It may curtail development and also the profits to be reaped by the developers and politicians. Remember when the politicians told us the lottery would solve the school financial problems. Did they take us for a ride!

Well, if you are as fed up as I am with our current political leadership(?) then, you're going to do what I am going to do every time I vote. Starting with local through county and state to federal, I am going into the voting booth with a list of the incumbents. I am then going to vote for the opposition. Ask yourselves, can you be any worse off with new and hopefully honest political leaders?

Democrats are making waves

CHURCHILL'S ALLIE

Former Democratic county party chief Jay Ukena is rising to the defense of county GOP chairman Robert Churchill.

Both are attorneys—Ukena in Waukegan, Churchill in Grayslake.

Churchill appeared this week before the Attorney Registration and Disciplinary Comm., a division of the Supreme Court.

It is on the complaint of Lindenhurst resident Robert Warrender. He claims Churchill's Grayslake law firm compromised itself by representing a client in a Grayslake zoning and annexation case. The 16 acres was eventually acquired by the state at a cost of $105,000 an acre for a new Rte. 120. This is at the same time Churchill was pushing for a new Rte. 53 that will empty onto highways around Grayslake, the complaint said.

"There's more to it than that," Ukena says. This is left over from the 1990 battle for state representative in the 62nd Dist. He compares it to a witches hunt. The idea is to politically harass Churchill. What's Ukena's version?

Lindenhurst resident and former Waukegan Atty. Henry Marquard was the Democratic opponent in that election. He brought up the Churchill real estate case. A friend, Warrender, then took it all the way to the Supreme Court.

Will it fly? Warrender says this is the same double-standard that did in former Chicago Alderman Eddie "Fast Eddie" Vrdolyak. His law firm represented city of Chicago employees in worker compensation cases.

Churchill says it is much ado about nothing. It happens to the best of them. Divorce lawyers have the most complaints filed against them.

Where's Marquard? He moved to Iowa last year.

LINK TO THE FUTURE

Looks are deceiving when it comes to Terry Link, the new county Democratic party chairman.

He looks like the quiet, soft-spoken type. Not so.

Link tells it like it is. "I'm an alley fighter," he said. "I grew up in North Chicago where you fought your way to respectability."

Link remembers getting involved in politics at the tender age of seven or eight. He pasted a (John) Matijevich for Mayor bumper sticker on the front of his bicycle basket. Matijevich lost, went on to become police chief and, then, state representative for 25 years.

Link calls Robert Churchill, his Republican party counterpart, "arrogant" for trying to redistrict Matijevich out of a job this election. "If that happens it will cost Lake County one of the greatest bipartisan legislators in history," Link said. Lots of people agree.

Along with getting Matijevich and other Democrats elected in November, Link has one other agenda item: "Let the voters win an election, once."

How? Start by electing Democrats. Restore the two-party system.

Link has two links to politicians of the past. He was the Secretary of State's man in Lake and McHenry counties in 1975 and for Mike Howlett, who died this week. And he was the collar county contact man for state Treasurer Jerry Cosentino in 1989 and 1990. Cosentino pleaded guilty last week to bank fraud in connection with a trucking business he owned.

Today, Link works for his money. It's with Johnson Controls of Arlington Heights.

FEUD IN WAUCONDA

Battle lines were drawn this week in politically-divided Wauconda.

It happened because of the sprawling, 480-acre Roney Farm. The upscale development with golf course has been talked to death for almost two years.

Mayor James Keagle told trustees to put up or shut up.

On the other side of the issue is Trustee Jim Eschenbauch.

He works for a building firm, Asbach & Vanselow. It gets lots of business from developers, according to those keeping an eye on things in town. Developers like a friend on the village board. Opponents challenged him to stay on the sidelines in this week's annexation vote. An already-announced candidate for mayor next spring, Eschenbauch is his own man.

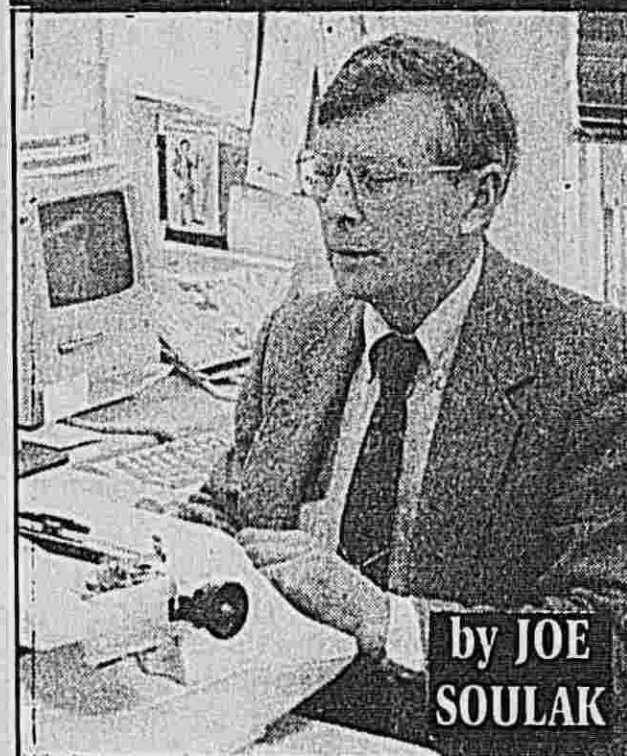

With a divided board, Keagle cast the tie-breaking 4-3 vote on this issue.

But it isn't over until the fat lady sings. Roney Farm will be an election issue from now until next April.

Beth Geuzendam of Wauconda, Democratic candidate for the County Board in Dist. 5, is fighting the annexation-re-zoning. She will make it a fall issue.

Keagle and Eschenbauch will keep it going in the mayoral battle next spring.

Jobs top concern in survey

Jobs are a major concern of Lake County, according to a survey taken by state Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis.

It was taken at the Zion Home Show in April. Show attendees filled out survey forms at a booth sponsored by Geo-Karis.

The majority said employment is the No. 1 issue in Illinois today. This was followed by crime second, drugs third, education fourth, taxes fifth and the environment sixth.

Other issues mentioned were state overspending, health care, senior citizens, gangs, government integrity, the state economy, politicians, gun control, child welfare and teachers' pensions.

"It's not surprising that jobs are a major issue here," Geo-Karis said. "The recession and the planned closing of Ft. Sheridan—affecting about 2,000 jobs—have created a grim employment picture for our area."

Also included in the survey was a question on abortion. Geo-Karis said 74 percent of the respondents favored a statewide advisory referendum on the subject. Geo-Karis said she has been seeking such a referendum in the state Senate, but it has been opposed by both pro-life and pro-choice advocates. "I feel the voters should make their wishes known," she said.

In the survey, 260 participants said abortions should be prohibited except to save the mother's health and life, in the case of rape or incest. Another 119 said no to abortion of any type and 255 said the issue should be strictly a personal choice for women.

To another question, there was fair support for an increase in the income tax to replace decreased taxes for education paid by property taxes. Some 45 percent of the respondents supported the idea.

Drawing the biggest response—95 percent—were those opposed to collection of what Geo-Karis calls a hidden surcharge on utility bills of Lake County customers to pay franchise fees to the city of Chicago.

Final preparations nearing for new branch court site

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

The branch number will be the same, but the place will be different when those who violated traffic laws face court dates in June.

Law enforcement agencies are being notified and could begin to start writing tickets soon for the county's newest branch court in Grayslake. County officials expect the new court to begin operations in late June.

Sally Coffelt, clerk of the Circuit Court for Lake County, said records and computers will be moved from Wauconda and Fox Lake branch offices.

Some 36 municipalities and the county will be having their court dates at the new facility to be located at Country Faire Plaza Shopping Center, Rtes. 45 and 120.

"The court will run five days a week with all four calls - 9 and 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 and 3 p.m.," Barbara Iwanski, Coffelt's chief deputy, said.

All told, the courtroom will be 1,880 square feet. The clerk's office will be 864 square feet and there will also be a conference room.

The Lake County Board's finance committee has approved the lease, one of the final steps in moving out of Fox Lake and Wauconda. Branch three had paid $75 a day at Fox Lake for three days a week.

"We got a steal on the rent and it will help all the other branch courts and is more centrally located," Lake County Board Chairman Bob Depke said.

Law enforcement agencies moving their court dates to the new facility will be Lake County Sheriff's Dept., Mundelein and Grayslake. Mundelein presently sends its traffic tickets to be litigated at the branch court at Vernon Twp. Hall in Prairie View while the Sheriff's Dept. uses North Chicago branch court.

With the branch three court system moving to Grayslake, Depke said the county can now turn its attention to improving the Hulse Detention Division.

The county board this summer may consider whether or not to go for a referendum on Hulse Division. The earliest that could be on the ballot is November.

Morrissey, Rivera lend hand to kick off youth jobs effort

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Boosted by some help from Chicago Bears players, Lake County Forest Preserve officials believe the Youth Conservation Corps efforts will be able to hit the ground running in June.

"We've exceeded last year in terms of number of applicants," Barbara Posner, chairman of the YCC, said. Bears' Ron Rivera and Jim Morrissey drew names of 20 fortunate youth who will receive YCC jobs at Forest Preserve sites this summer. Another 20 were chosen as alternates, in case some of the original positions are not filled.

"I was looking for a summer job," Derek Moran said after being one of those chosen.

Moran, age 17, worked at his uncle's factory last year. Moran's was one of the last names chosen Sunday.

Moran, an outstanding basketball player at Grayslake High, will be pondering a decision on which college to attend - Lakeland in Wisconsin or Western Illinois as a walk-on as he prepares for the YCC job.

Bears Morrissey and Rivera donated their time to be at the Gurnee Mills ceremony. Rivera's son Chris aided in the drawing of names and the two players signed autographs. "The Bears do such a fine job being concerned with the community and educating the youth," Posner said.

The YCC's only source of revenue is corporate and individual donations. The YCC Advisory Committee, comprised of executives of major Lake County companies, helps organize the YCC.

High school students between the ages of 16 and 18 who are available June 15 through Aug. 7 were eligible to apply.

Country Motors is home to the used-car guarantee

All cars sold by Larry Doyle's Country Motors are inspected by certified mechanics prior to being placed on the lot for sale. The dealership guarantees all cars sold for seven days and provides a 90-day power train warranty.

by RHONDA VINZANT
Lakeland Newspapers

Guaranteed used cars. Is it possible? It is at Larry Doyle's Country Motors in Fox Lake where they are working to change that pit-in-the-stomach feeling you get when buying a used car by putting customer satisfaction first. They do so with a seven-day unconditional warranty, 90-day power-train warranty and by treating each customer the same whether they have $500 or $20,000 to spend.

The idea is simple, people need to be able to purchase quality, used cars and depend on them to work. When they do so and are happy, they come back and so do their friends, neighbors and family members.

The Country Motors team of Ed Williams, Bart Levin and Duke George, who is the sales manager, bring more than 35 years of experience in car sales to the one-year-old business which they have built on a philosophy of customer satisfaction.

Customer satisfaction is not a term often associated with used cars and Country Motors is out to change that. "We're here for the long haul," said Williams. "We're a new car alternative, our cars are just as shiny as new ones and as like-new as possible, when they are placed on our lot."

The most notable difference between Larry Doyle Country Motors and other used car dealerships-- is the guarantee. "If you are dissatisfied with any Country Motors vehicle within seven days of purchase, we will fix the problem or apply all your money to the purchase of another vehicle of equal or greater value," said Williams. "That's our policy. If you take the vehicle home and want to exchange it because you've decided you want a different color you can do that, that is very unique in the used car business."

Another factor in customer satisfaction is the policy that each car be as close to new as possible. The process begins by buying good used cars and then ensuring they are in top-notch condition.

"We buy all of our cars from dealers," George said. "Our buyers only buy product from product, they won't buy a Toyota that has been traded in at a Chrysler dealership because that's a clue. If a person drove a car for several years and then switched to a different make, we don't want that car. Our buyers also have the mechanical knowledge and marketing ability to know how to make a good buy." The three full-time buyers that work for Country Motors maintain a close relationship with the dealers on their route further ensuring quality cars are purchased for resell.

Once the quality used car is brought to Fox Lake Country Motors it undergoes a thorough safety-check and complete auto-detailing, which includes a hand wash, wax, interior shampoo and undercarriage cleaning as well as cleaning of engine surfaces. "You're not buying someone else's dirt," George said. "And you're not buying someone else's problem, because we fix any problems that we find." The safety-check form used by the four certified mechanics, and service manager who has more than 30 years of experience, are attached to the windows of the vehicles so that customers are aware of how the car has been serviced. "A lot of people in this business don't believe in doing that," said George. "The law says all you have to do is sell a car as is, but we go beyond that because we want the customer to be happy with what he purchases."

When the vehicle reaches the sales lot it is "as close to new as you can get" and tagged with a sticker price so customers can avoid the all-too-familiar salesman ploys. "Our prices are upfront," said George. "The salesman won't ask how much you have to spend, when the customer asks how much a car is, we avoid that because we want people to feel comfortable and at ease while they look around. It should be a pleasant experience."

The Country Motors commitment to the customer doesn't stop once the car has been purchased. "We send them a thank-you card in the mail and we keep in touch by sending cards for holidays and sending Doyle Dollars, which are good toward services at Country Motors or can be used toward a down payment on another purchase.

"We want to make buying a used car a pleasant experience, not something you dread," said George. "The used car business has a horrible reputation. Our results have been phenomenal. When people realize you are here to stay and guarantee what you're doing, they come back."

Country Motors currently has two other dealerships in Harvard and Elgin and will soon be expanding into Waukegan as well.

Regal China will end an era with its closing on June 30

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

About 140 people will lose their jobs on June 30 when Antioch's Regal China ends an era and closes its doors after over 50 years in the decanter manufacturing business.

"This has been an extremely difficult decision," said Regal President Andrew Malone. "We explored every viable option to maintain the company as a going business and believe this was the only decision left to make."

The company's main focus, according to Malone, over the next two months will be to help its employees and customers through the transition and bring an orderly cease to the company's operations.

Regal plans to provide its employees with various forms of assistance to aid them in their search for other employment.

"We have excellent employees committed to making a quality product," said Malone. "They will do very well."

According to Malone, Regal hopes to better prepare every employee for the job search ahead with counseling and job interviewing improvement skills.

"We care very much for our loyal employees and customers and are taking appropriate steps to help them through this difficult time," said Malone.

Many of those 140 employees, who will find themselves jobless in 60 days, planned on making a career with Regal, including Malone, Joseph Bill and Dotie Bowen.

Bowen, who has been with Regal since she moved to Antioch in 1973, is optimistic about her future despite feeling betrayed, angry, sad and sick about the closing.

"It's lousy," said Bowen. "I think there are jobs out there. You just have to go out there and get them."

Bill, who has worked at Regal since 1989, was also disappointed about the closing due to his wish to retire at Regal.

"I'm a few classes short of my degree in accounting and wanted to work as an accountant here," said Bill. "I guess Regal has been a victim of the long recession."

Malone, on the other hand, wants to wait and get everything settled and closed at the Regal plant before looking for another job.

"I would like to help as many people as I can with their own job search before I begin to look for my own job 60 days from now," said Malone. "I really don't know yet what I will do next."

Rumors of the closing began earlier in the year when reports of a plant closing circulated the plant during some layoffs.

"All of the employees we laid off in March are back with us until June 30," said Malone.

Regal, who manufactures decanters, lamp bases, vases and specialty products at its Antioch plant, was given the order to close after its Board of Trustees decided closing the plant was the only alternative.

"It's disappointing we had to make this decision," said Malone.

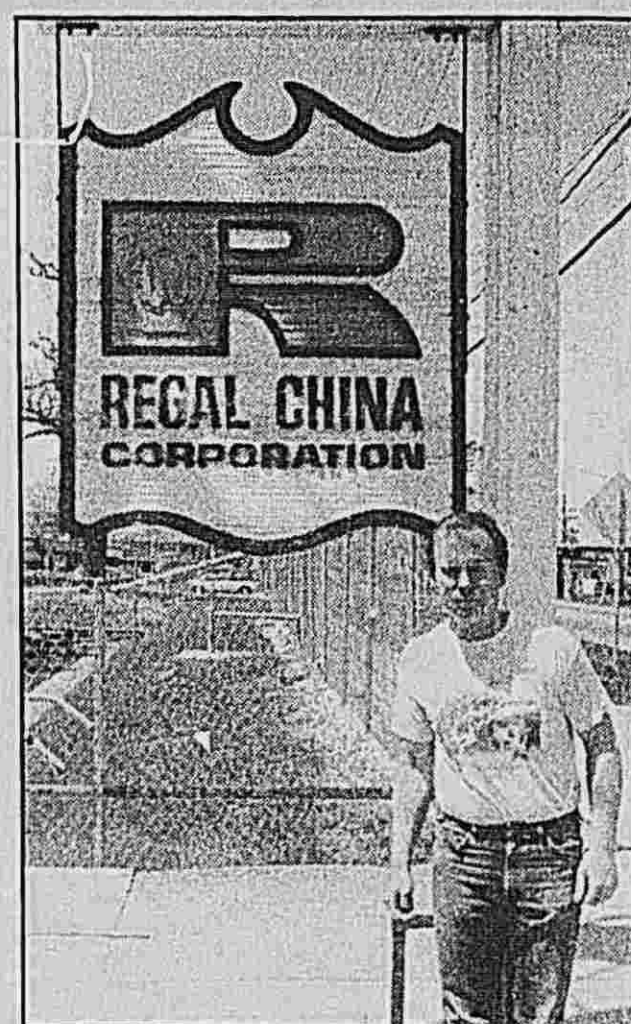

According to Malone, the company's decanter business, which had gross sales in excess of $7 million last year, has been steadily declining over the past decade.

Regal China was purchased by Jim Beam Brands Co. in 1968 to produce liquor decanters for its several brands of liquor.

"Liquor decanters were the hot thing back then," said Malone.

As the sales and orders for liquor decanters fell, Regal struggled with alternative way to make an equal profit, like the present task of making lamp bases and vases.

Although these new ventures were beginning to become more and more profitable, Regal could not sustain operations without their decanter business leading the way.

Regal China Employee Joseph Bill stands in front of the Antioch plant's sign before Regal closes its doors for good on June 30.

Gardening—A popular American pastime

rural areas usually maintain more elaborate gardens, which supply their homes with fresh flowers and their tables with fresh vegetables and fruits. Or their gardens exist solely as a refuge, where one can relax among beauty and sweet scents, after a hard day at work.

Gardening has been gaining popularity with each passing year. In fact, it is America's number one leisure activity, according to a recent Gallup poll. But what motivates people to garden?

Gardening offers many rewards, both physical and spiritual. On practicality's side, many people enjoy the sense of self-sufficiency that comes from growing some of their own food.

And a home-grown vegetable garden can be very economical and tasty. Everyone knows you can't beat the taste of a home-grown tomato picked ripe off the vine! Plus, canning and preserving allow the gardener to enjoy the fruits of his or her labor even in the middle of winter.

Other gardeners like to surround their homes with beautiful plants, flowers and ornamental shrubs. Some even express an artistic bent exhibited by their careful arrangement of plants and shrubbery. These efforts may even include features such as arbors, garden-pools, rose-covered archways and raised beds.

A garden is always a work in progress. As plants pass through maturity and react to the change of seasons, gardeners make adjustments to create a continuously pleasing design. Gardening also is an effective form of mild exercise, requiring plenty of lifting, bending and stretching. It's both relaxing and enjoyable—a great way to escape stress and tension.

And, as our society becomes increasingly complex, more and more people are turning to gardening as a way to reestablish a link with nature.

Time spent working in the garden can also be a time for the whole family (or neighborhood, in the case of a community garden) to work toward a common goal, dividing chores and sharing pride in the results. In fact, most children love helping out in the garden. A logical reason is that children enjoy getting dirty and gardening gives them a legitimate reason for doing just that. But gardening also teaches them responsibility, particularly if they are given their own plants to tend.

The Garden Council recommends the sunflower as a perfect flower for children to tend. It is a delight because it provides a chance for children to witness firsthand the miracle of life and growth, as the sunflower grows from a tiny seed to a towering plant, with its huge yellow flower which always looks toward the sun. Hardy vegetables such as radishes and carrots are also good choices for a child's garden, according to the Council.

Chances are that a child who learns to love gardening will enjoy it throughout life—as well as develop more appreciation for life. And as more Americans continue to discover the joys and benefits of gardening, it is hoped that our society as a whole will develop a greater appreciation for nature and a stronger desire to protect the environment for future generations.

Gardening satisfies many human urges—to create, to nurture, to see the results of hard work and those from tender loving care. And it is one activity which is adaptable to almost any lifestyle, environment or income level. So what are you waiting for—dig in!

Gardening is one of the most popular American pastimes. Its appeal transcends all barriers. It is accessible to nearly every member of our society regardless of class, income, education or skill level. Indeed, gardens and gardening are part of our culture, figuring in religion, literature, legend and myth.

According to surveys, 78 percent of all American households are involved in one or many forms of gardening, including lawn care and tending houseplants.

Many urban dwellers, however, don't just visit gardens—they grow gardens on their rooftops or in windowsills. Or they share in tending a community garden, often a vacant lot transformed from an eyesore into a thing of beauty through the effort of neighbors working together, side by side.

Plants make our world better

According to the Garden Council, plants can help you make a world of difference in the environment, beginning in your own backyard. Plants are not only beautiful by they work diligently by:

- Cleaning the air by removing harmful chemicals indoors and out.
- Preventing wind and soil erosion.

- Reducing heating and cooling costs by shading and insulating the home.

- Making your home and backyard a more enjoyable place to be.

- Providing you with a relaxing form of exercise: gardening.

- Attracting wildlife by providing food and shelter for birds and small animals.

- Adding pleasure to your life with sweet scents and great tastes.

- Increasing the quiet and seclusion of your yard.

- Sheltering you from glaring sun or harsh winds.

- Naturally screening out undesirable views and enhancing pleasant ones.

Plants enrich your life and help make the world a better place.

Time - saving equipment increases garden enjoyment

If you're like most people you'd love to have a beautiful vegetable garden but don't know where to find the time. The answer? Join the increasing number of on-the-go gardeners who are effectively using timesaving equipment.

The main consideration in productive time-efficient gardening is determining your specific needs. With this in mind you will be able to decide the types of equipment necessary to get you on your way. This means that you will have to decide how large or small you wish to plant your garden. You will also want to determine the kind of soil you have in order to choose tools and equipment designed for your garden type.

Here's a list of equipment to get you started and keep you going:

Digging Tools

When planning a garden of small to medium size, you'll generally find that the simple handheld tools are the way to go.

A trowel is probably the most used gardening tool since it is both functional and versatile. It can be used indoors when starting seeds early and outside for all types of gardening tasks. When selecting a trowel look for a strong steel shank that connects the blade to the handle. The shank is the part that receives the greatest stress and is usually the place where a trowel will wear out first.

A transplanter is a trowel with a narrow blade marked off in inches and will assist you in determining the soil depth of nursery plants bulbs and tubers.

A 3-claw cultivator is perfect for breaking small sections of compacted soil. It is also useful for removing unwanted growths such as weeds and crabgrass.

Hoes rakes and forks

A rugged garden hoe is a familiar and productive gardening tool that you can use for chopping dirt clods, making furrows, digging out weeds and hilling potatoes.

A garden rake aides in the task of spreading peat moss before tilling and smoothing the seedbed before planting.

Perfect for the small garden, a spading fork can be used to turn a small plot by hand. It is also useful in turning compost and spreading peat moss.

Watering Supplies

To ensure that your vegetable garden receives the proper amount of moisture throughout the season watering supplies are of the utmost importance.

There are many types of hoses available. The most common type is made to carry water to a sprinkler head. These can be made of plastic polyvinyl or heavy-duty rubber. While rubber hoses generally last the longest plastic and polyvinyl hoses will be adequate in situations when your garden requires little spraying. A soaker hose is filled with tiny holes and when properly positioned in your garden will provide a constant, gentle application of water directly on to your vegetation.

For watering a large garden an oscillating sprinkler can be used. The sprinkler head moves in a back and-forth pattern to cover a large area more quickly.

Walk-behind tillers

When working on a large garden you'll often find that larger equipment is needed.

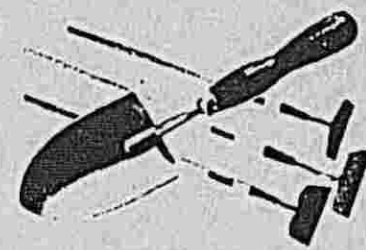

A compact tiller is a rugged helper that will save you hours of work. These tillers range from two to three and one-half horsepower and till a path anywhere from six to 36 inches wide, meaning they're perfect for preparing a small to medium garden seedbed. Heavy duty walk-behind tillers provide greater horsepower and wider tilling widths for extra-large gardens. If you elect to purchase a heavy-duty model, be sure to get one with reverse drive. This will allow you to back away from fences and maneuver out of corners without strain.

Tractor-Mounted Implements

If you already own a lawn and garden tractor and are planning a large garden, you can add a tiller attachment for fast seedbed preparation and cultivation. Tractor-mounted tillers range from 30 to 48 inches wide. Most are mechanical and run off the tractor PTO; some models run off the tractor hydraulic system.

A hydraulic tiller can be mounted to the tractor for standard forward tilling. This mounting is recommended for tilling soft soil and for cultivating. The tiller can also be mounted "backward" which provides a counter rotating tine action that helps the tiller break up hard soil and sod more thoroughly in one pass.

A dumpcart is another useful tool which will aid you and your tractor in hauling such things as large bales of peat moss, heavy bags of fertilizer lime and sand or compost. Dumpcarts range from a capacity of 5.75 cubic feet and a 400-pound load to eight cubic feet and a 900-pound load.

Lastly, if you discover that your large garden is under attack by insects or disease, you may wish to invest in a tractor-mounted sprayer which can carry gallons of spray and insecticide.

Whether you're planning a large or small vegetable garden this year make sure that you have the proper timesaving equipment designed for your specific needs.

Garden ponds—easy to install and maintain

If you really enjoy being in your yard and would like to give it that extra dimension to make it even more enjoyable, as well as the envy of the neighborhood, here's a great suggestion—put in your own yard pond!

Installing your own garden pond is simple, maintaining it is easy and, best of all, your pond will provide years of trouble-free enjoyment.

Eight years ago, a German company, Tetra Werke, known best in the United States for its home aquarium products developed a bonded two piece heavy duty (32 Mil. thick) flexible rubber pond liner. This liner allows homeowners to free-form a yard pond efficiently and easily, in whatever shape is best suited for the terrain or the homeowner's needs.

This liner can withstand the warmest summers and the coldest winters, and is available in sizes big enough to create ponds almost 10 feet in diameter.

How do you construct a garden pond? Start by selecting a location on your property where the ground is fairly even, although because of the flexibility of the liner some leveling can be achieved when digging your pond. The pond should be placed where it will get approximately six hours of sunlight per day.

While you can place your pond anywhere, it is not recommended to place it directly under trees, since falling leaves can foul the water and tree roots will make digging difficult.

Using a heavy garden hose or a rope, free-form your pond design to conform to your landscaping scheme.

When constructing your pond, dig both a shallow area and a deep area. Fish will feed on insects in the shallow area, and it is the ideal place for potted plants such as lillies.

The deep area will provide security for your fish and protect them from birds and small animals. Depending on your climate, the deep area of your pond should be anywhere from 24" to 40", and the shallow area from 4" to 12".

After digging out your pond location, line the ground with sand, carpet padding or even old newspapers before installing the liner. This will protect the liner against sharp, protruding objects such as roots and rocks.

To create that professional look, build a rock border around your pond, allowing the rocks to overlap the edge of the pond by 1" or 2". You can landscape back around the pond and even build a patio if desired. Easy maintenance Maintaining your pond is very easy. Tetra has an economical, permanent pond filter and air pump, as well as a full line of water chemicals and foods to ensure that your fish will prosper.

What kind of fish should you put in your pond? The hardest are large Common or Comet goldfish. Depending on the size of your pond, these hardy fish will grow rapidly and can withstand the worst climates. As long as the water in your pond does not freeze to the lowest depths, these fish can survive the cruellest winters.

What should you do in the winter? Nothing! After the first frost, remove your filter and leave your pond alone until the onset of spring (as soon as the water temperature reaches 50° F).

Never feed your fish during the winter, as their metabolism directly relates to the water temperature, and when it drops below 50° F, the fish will not eat. In the spring, reinstall your filter and begin feeding your fish.

Introduce children to value of gardening

Childhood development specialists have long understood the value of gardening. Gardening provides children with invaluable early life creative experiences. It also teaches a number of important life lessons, including a strong commitment to responsibility, and emphasizes the rewards one gains from care giving and nurturing.

Many experts believe that one of the most rewarding experiences a child can have is to reap the rewards of fresh flowers, fruits and vegetables grown in one's own garden.

Children as young as two years old can be successful gardeners. The trick, however, is to start on a scale to match the youngsters' physical capabilities and attention span. It's important to give children the benefit of early success by allowing them an easily-managed garden. In some cases, it might be just a bed of a few flowers, or one or two tomato plants.

You will be amazed at how children thrill at the joy of discovery by watching their very own plants grow, mature and bear fruit. The best time to lead them into more challenging and physically demanding tasks is after a year or two of fairly easy success.

To get started, choose an area where you know things will grow or are currently growing.

Vegetables and annual flowers need a full day of sun and plenty of water. The area you choose for your beginning gardener should be level, to avoid having seeds or unestablished plants run off after a heavy rain or watering.

The time to get started is after what gardeners call the "last fear of frost."

You want the soil warm and dry enough to work easily with your hands.

Next, clear the designed garden area of all vegetation. Many children seem to like having their garden staked and tied off with cord, making this their own special territory. Next, spread compost or peat moss or shredded leaves on the ground at the rate of two to three inches. Add a good general garden fertilizer, about one pound per 10 square feet. Work this into the soil.

The remaining preparation is to divide the garden into rows with stakes and string. Consult the seed packet information to determine how far apart rows should be and how deep to plant the seed.

After the work of planting is done, the real lessons of gardening begin, because it is time for "tending" before any results are seen. The child learns that this responsibility is necessary if future results are to be realized.

When the young plants reach two to three inches in height, "thin" out the garden by pulling out extra seedlings. Too many plants in one bed will rob all the plants of needed growing space and nutrients.

When plants reach three to four inches high, it's time to sprinkle small amounts of fertilizer along the side of each row, then water lightly. An alternative is to use a water soluble fertilizer, which will allow you to feed and water at the same time.

A weekly or twice-weekly weeding and watering is about the only care the new plants will need, until it's time to pick the flowers for an indoor bouquet or to harvest the fresh vegetables for the dinner table.

To teach a child gardening is to provide that child with a skill that will last a lifetime. Among some of their happiest memories, senior citizens often describe their early gardening experiences under the watchful eye of a caring adult. Begin now to build a joy of gardening that your children will always cherish.

Mowing lawns as American as apple pie

Every spring homeowners fire up about 61 million lawn mowers as they begin to tame unruly turf in an annual ritual that has become as American as apple pie.

Teenagers experience a kind of initiation rite as parents turn over control of the family mower. And to an ever greater extent, women get involved in lawn care as more families juggle two career schedules. But they all have one thing in common, a need to know more about how to care for a lawn properly.

According to John Eckhardt of Spring-Green Lawn Care of Wauconda, "It's important to know a little something about how grass grows to maintain a healthy lawn." States Mr. Eckhardt, "A few basic principles can help people understand the special needs of a lawn."

1. Follow the One-Third Rule. Mow the lawn often enough to remove only one-third of the grass blade in each mowing. Following this rule reduces shock to the lawn's root system and helps prevent an accumulation of thatch.

2. Heed the Growth Principle. The height of the grass blades above ground determines the depth of the root system below ground. And a deep root system is the key to a healthy, luxuriant turf.

Lawn Care professionals recommend infrequent, deep watering to encourage grass roots to grow 6 to 8 inches into the soil. Frequent shallow watering trains the roots to stay near the surface where moisture is easy to find.

3. Mow on the high side. There is a recommended range of mowing heights for every variety of grass. In general, warm-season grasses are mowed at 1 to 2 inches. Cool-season grasses are cut at 2-1/2 to 3-1/2 inches. The experts say to cut on the high side to encourage deep roots.

4. Feed the lawn regularly. A lawn needs regular applications of nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium. Nitrogen is needed for leaf growth and a healthy green color. Phosphorus promotes root development. And potassium helps turf-grasses resist disease. Depending on the time of year, fertilizer can be mixed with pre-emergence controls for grassy weeds or post-emergence controls for broadleaf weeds.

5. Vary mowing patterns. Mow in a different direction each time so that grass blades don't develop a lean that results in spikes of uncut grass.

Overlap mowing paths by about 4 inches for a uniform cut. Try to turn on driveways and walkways to minimize tire scuffing.

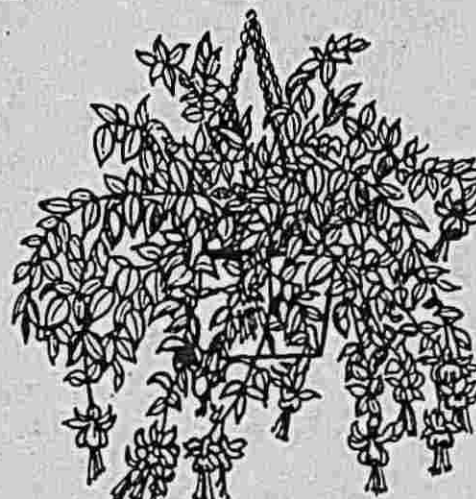

And keep the mower blades sharp. Dull blades shred grass tips and provide entry ways for disease organisms.

Man suing cops hopes King's loss is his gain

by DAN BERNARD
Lakeland Newspapers

An African-American man from Round Lake hopes jurors get a sense of déjà vu if a lawsuit alleging Round Lake Beach police brutalized him is advanced to trial this month, the man said.

Carl Bradford, a minister and educational worker, hopes some Americans' sense that justice was not done in the Rodney King case could work in his favor as he presses a federal lawsuit claiming police violated his civil rights during traffic stops on May 19, 1990. The $1 million lawsuit names patrolman John Galford and Police Chief Edward Noe.

"Yes, I can identify with Rodney King," Bradford said. The acquittal of Los Angeles officers accused of beating King "benefits my case because it shows the prevalence of this type of misuse of authority across the whole spectrum of society," Bradford said.

The outrage and violence that followed the Los Angeles officers' acquittal should alert potential jurors of the seriousness of the brutality issue, Bradford's attorney said.

"I would want the jury to be put on notice that they are in a point in history when they have to stand up on the side of fairness and justice, said Chicago lawyer Ellis May. "I think that juries, in light of all this, would be more sympathetic—wanting to do the right thing, if you will."

May said he plans to make specific reference to the King case in opening and concluding statements to the jury.

But officials who investigated the Bradford's claims said it's a stretch to compare that incident with the Los Angeles beating. If Bradford invites comparisons between his lawsuit and the racially charged King case, they are of his own creation, the investigators said.

"This is an isolated incident," said Round Lake Beach Sgt. David Ostertag. "The only place that any racial issue is coming out of that is from Mr. Bradford."

"I don't think (the King case) bears any relation to the case in Round Lake Beach," said Deputy State's Attorney Steven McCollum.

Separate investigations by Ostertag and McCollum in late 1990 concluded Galford was not at fault and that it was Bradford who attacked Galford, the officials restated this week.

Bradford's case will have its preliminary hearing May 19—exactly two years after the incident—before Federal Judge John Grady.

In the incident, both parties agree Galford stopped Bradford for speeding. Bradford's wife and children were also in the car. Bradford continually asked the officer why he was bothering him, both parties state. Galford directed Bradford to drive to the Round Lake Beach police station because he was not carrying his driver's license or proof of insurance.

Bradford then drove in the wrong direction. Galford said he believed Bradford was fleeing and that he had to chase Bradford at high speeds. Bradford said he went the wrong way because he was not aware the police department had recently moved to a new station.

Bradford claims that when Galford pulled him over a second time, the officer called him racial epithets and handled him with excessively roughly. Galford handcuffed Bradford and took him to the police station.

But Ostertag and McCollum claim that in interviews with investigators, witnesses to the arrest said Bradford acted "belligerent" toward Galford and himself instigated a physical fight. Most witnesses said the officer did not brutalize Bradford, Ostertag said. Galford had minor cuts and bruises after the incident was uninjured, Ostertag said. Tried in November 1990, Bradford was found not guilty of assault, battery, resisting arrest and fleeing police.

Bradford has said the witnesses' accounts were coerced as part of a "cover-up" by Round Lake Beach police. Bradford says his lawsuit names Chief Noe because Noe is centrally responsible for an alleged attitude among some Round Lake Beach officers that they can mistreat blacks.

But Ostertag said brutality is not tolerated in the Round Lake Beach department and that complaints of brutality are always investigated.

"We don't go around beating people up," Ostertag said. "We do an honest job, and we take absolutely appropriate actions" on brutality complaints.

Bradford claimed that since filing the lawsuit in July 1991, he and May have heard accounts of police harassment incidents from 16 residents—white, black and Hispanic. May will call many of the residents to testify if the trial proceeds, Bradford said.

But Bradford said he still believes that most area police officers are respectful and professional toward residents.

County gangs could provide catalyst for social reform

by DEBRA SCHWARTZ
Lakeland Newspapers

"I'm sorry," said the homeless man, then flashed a wry grin. He once had a hundred-thousand-dollar-a-year job. The other night I listened to him talk about freedom and the recent rioting and looting in Los Angeles. Could it happen here, in Lake County? We wondered.

He talked about freedom of choice, freedom to fail, to be hungry, to be sick, to lose the roof over your head. American society doesn't let you die though, he said, it gives just enough to keep you alive but in return takes your self-respect. "The United States is a tough, tough place to be if you slip off your rung on the ladder, or if you never manage to even find the ladder in the first place," he said.

Stripped for so long of all the things that once defined him—his job, car, clothes, boat, televisions, stereos—he said it becomes difficult for people alienated by society to cope with all the freedom and choices left to them. "I'm going to get back on my feet, you'll see," he said. "I just need a little more time to get my thoughts and my act back together again."

'They feel disaffected, disenfranchised, rejected, infected, ignored.'

— Professor Ronald Forgas

"They feel disaffected, disenfranchised, rejected, infected, ignored," said Psychologist Ronald Forgas, a professor at Lake Forest College. It's what the rage was about in Los Angeles, he said, adding, "It's not just a question of race."

The problem is not restricted by wealth or poverty, but is defined by one commonality: dysfunction. "The way to kill the problem is to address the breeding ground of psychological disorders within the family," he said.

"If the family is dysfunctional, then expect a good percentage of the children coming out of that family to be dysfunctional. We have a tremendous amount of dysfunction in families, amongst the wealthy and the poor. That's one of the reasons so many Americans are oppressed: The people doing the oppressing are themselves dysfunctional," he said.

Looting and rioting is less likely to occur in Lake County than in Chicago, for instance, because the people living there have chosen to live there, and therefore take pride in their community, Forgas said. It provides cohesion, the glue to identity common values. "The people in the ghetto don't have those desires, those wants that tie them together. Every single one of them if they could want to get out," he said.

What could happen in Lake County is a uniting of gangs for the purpose of social reform. "I think in a very paradoxical way, that's what happening," Forgas said.

James Dorsey, professor of Sociology at the College of Lake County and a former probation officer for the county, said if gangs could unite outside of criminal activity, become proactive instead of reactive, they could be the catalyst of constructive social change. "But if they choose to be revolutionary in nature, they can be destructive," he said. "It will depend on the ideology."

The seed planted in the Los Angeles rebellion was that of multi-culturalism, he said, crossing not only race and social class, but also sex. "You can see the people putting down their differences in a crisis situation. The question is, could they continue to effectively rebuild the community?" he said.

Kenneth Ehrensaft, a former county probation officer and a professor of sociology at Barat College in Lake Forest, said no, gangs will not provide social reform, no matter what the ideology. "Attempts have been tried before to take gangs and try to change their activities to constructive ones," he said, citing funds given to packs in the mid-1960s to start businesses. "We found that a lot of the money was embezzled," he said.

New laws could change the game, Dorsey said, by giving people in gangs an avenue to get out. "It is difficult to dissolve a group until new groups can fulfill the needs these kids have," he said. "New groups have to form with their particular objectives and function. Now they are anti-social."

"There have to be alternative programs for them to get involved in," he said.

In 1982, gang members in Waukegan, North Chicago and Zion attempted to effect change by taking their case to their elected officials. "Kids decided they didn't want to shoot each other and after some intense negotiating (with police officials), we got them to understand that they could be killed and not ever fulfill their dreams in life because they failed to deal with circumstances within their control," Dorsey said. "They went to city hall and asked for an opportunity to live like everybody else."

"They became proactive instead of reactive. Many went into the army. It's not a trend now, but it needs to be," he said.

verdict in which four white police officers were acquitted of brutality in the beating of motorist King last year has returned racial discrimination to the forefront of the nation's minds. "It has put a damper on the civil rights movement that we have not seen in 29 years," said Bridgemon. "We put our confidence in the judicial department and they failed us greatly. A lot of the reaction we are seeing are feelings that were oppressed for years. The King verdict was a catalyst, it is the tip of the ice-berg in what people are feeling and have been keeping inside."

The question of racial inequality is not as obvious today as it was during the civil rights movement, when segregated restrooms were the norm and blacks were allowed only to sit in the back of the bus, but according to Bridgemon it remains prevalent, but is expressed in different means. "I think that racism is as prevalent today in this county as it was 20 or 40 years ago," he said. "We see it in a different forms such as the court systems, the verdict in the King case is an example of that. We experience racism on the job. We are the last hired and the first fired, we are locked-in, shut-out and left-out. We experience racism in housing and in education."

The problems of racism have their roots in the beginnings of the nation when slaves were imported for work and in human nature where to be different is to be excluded. Many believe that current government programs and attitudes do little to stop racism.

"Our nation's leaders need to take a very deep look at what these illnesses are and do something to curtail and alleviate these problems," said Rev. Perry Johnson. "Our community heads need to take a better look at what happened. It is not just a problem in L.A. The grass-roots of the problem has been ignored. The President wants to veto the civil rights program and eliminate hiring mandates—that attitude behind the attitude is catching up to him and our leaders. They have a responsibility to deal with it with more than political rhetoric."

Other community leaders believe that fairness in education is the key. Leaders are calling for changes on the national level to ensure equal educational opportunities are available to everyone.

The NAACP, the coalition and other community groups say the message they want to put out is: "If you give up, don't give out and if you give-out don't give up." "Through education and non-violent protest as Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. advocated we can work together for a better tomorrow. There is hope for the future," Bridgemon said.

'Cover' deep drug drama

"Deep Cover," the latest of the cops versus cocaine film epics is at least two levels above the usual police and good triumph over drugs and evil premise.

Of course we have a black cop dealing with a shady but white attorney during an undercover drug investigations.

The copy is played by Larry Fishburne who made his first big mark as the concerned dad in "Boyz N The Hood." He narrates the picture from the depths of his moral dilemma.

Jeff Goldblum, of "The Fly" fame is the flippant cross-the-line legal eagle Fishburne has to deal with.

There are the usual chase scenes, the shouting of a lot of four letter words, and a more than sufficient smattering of shoot-'em-up violence.

The cop burrows deep into the drug underground only to affirm the fact that he often thinks like his adversaries, discovering a certain upsetting kinship with them. Is he really a criminal underneath?

Unlike many of its peer-pics, "Cover" delves into individual emotions when wrongs are committed. For instance Fishburne is actually upset when he is called upon to commit a murder in the line of his under-cover duty.

In fact, the majority of individual characterizations in "Cover," turn out to be real people, not just a collection of abstract blow-'em-up, shoot-'em-up action scenes, where the bodies pile high and the perpetrators are nothing more than robotic killers.

This means better than average performances by Goldblum, Charles Martin Smith as the top FBI agent and Victoria Dillard. We rate "Cover" four out of five stars.—by GLORIA DAVIS

Mother's Day

With Mother's Day coming up this weekend, take time out to enjoy the hand-made cards and gifts children will be bringing home from school while you're magnetizing them to the refrigerator or tucking them away as keepsakes. While you marvel at the creativity of your own children, it's also a great time to show your mother the appreciation you've come to have for her since becoming a parent yourself.

Spending time with the youngsters in the spring air is one-way to enjoy the day. Planting a bush, tree or flowers that will grow along with your child can providing a lasting, flourishing lesson of nurturing and taking care of a species while helping it weather the storms of mother nature.

Storyteller extraordinaire

Storyteller extraordinaire Judy Farrow Busack is the next scheduled act to take center stage as Stage Two Theater Company presents its "Super Saturdays" children's series. Busack will paint pictures with words in two performances May 9, beginning at 10 and 11:30 a.m. Stage Two Theatre Company is located at 12 N. Sheridan Road, Waukegan. Admission to the performances is $3. Free parking is available in the city lot off Sheridan Road between Washington Street and Madison Avenue. (Continued from page 27)

what they're talking about," Dominas says, and gives a mocking example. "The elegance of the scenery and the majesty of the theme overflowed into the...." It's like reading a Harlequin novel or something."

Dominas realized that he wasn't alone in his disdain for critics—that there was a market for regular-guy reviews—while working at a video store.

"When I was working, people would come in and say, 'Oh, the critics liked it? Forget it, I don't want it,'" Dominas says. "Because the critics are concerned with how many Oscars a movie's going to get, not whether or not it was entertaining. The biggest example of this is, Siskel and Ebert put 'Beverly Hills Cop 2' in their top 10 worst movies of the year list. But it made, what, $157 million?"

Dominas and a rotating group of friends started the show in December 1988—making it one of the longest-running public access shows in Lake County. Aikins joined later.

To get excerpts of the films they review, the Movie Talkers pulled an inside job. "I have this friend of a friend who works for this firm downtown, who got me a list of the names of some (movie company) publicists," says Dominas, as Kim Basinger's navel quivers on the monitor behind him. "I sent out a letter on the cable system's letterhead, and now we get all these tapes."

And they would rather be watching than yakking, too. Like the protagonists of "Wayne's World," who quote and re-enact cheesy TV shows at will, the characters behind "Movie Talk" are thoroughly fluent in pop culture-ese. They debate the merits of John Ritter and challenge each other to name all the movies Kristy McNichol has appeared in.

Now that they have a job on local cable job, they can put that junk-culture trivia to use. They're even willing to do it for pay, someday.

In the meantime, they'll make the most of their no-pay, no-budget situation. "You wouldn't believe how many comments we get about these recliners," Aikins says, gesturing toward the seats that make up the bulk of the "Movie Talk" set: Two mangy lazy boys with upholstery so ragged the hosts throw blankets over them. Kinda like the white sheets paramedics throw over dead bodies at a crime scene.

"But that's one of the benefits of having no budget," Aikins says. "When we show up to set up for the show, we just throw the chairs up there, bring over the table, and we're done!"

'60 Minutes' of the mat

John Bowles of Park City brings something to his public-access show that is lacking in his big-network counterparts: A no-B.S., honest and probing look at an often-misunderstood topic:

We're talking of course, about professional wrestling.

Bowles and his partner Tim Chaplee, a 23-year-old Waukegan resident, host the monthly call-in and commentary show "Pro Wrestling Revue." True to the blunt nature of the sport that brought us the flying triple-hammerlock, the program is no-holds-barred.

"We try to inform our audience about behind-the-scenes kind of information," says Bowles, 23. "We've touched on steroids in professional sports. We've dedicated shows to wrestlers that recently died, like Dick the Bruiser, Mike von Erich, Gene Anderson.... We touch on things that aren't brought out in professional wrestling."

"Professional wrestling organizations are more glitzy, more into marketing, trying to turn their wrestlers into superheroes and supervillains," Bowles says. "On our show, we don't get glitzy, and we don't try to cover up."

Bowles is an engineer's assistant at Bell and Howell Labs in Skokie, and Chaplee works with the mentally handicapped and runs a comic book shop in Waukegan. But both are passionate about wrestling.

"I love it. It's a sport that I grew up with. I've watched it on TV since I was a kid," Bowles says. But he bemoans the decline of the hard-knocks school of wrestling.

"Since they took out the violence and put in the acrobatics, it's not the same. I prefer the violence," he says. "When you're raised on this stuff and every other week you're seeing somebody bleeding like a stuck pig—I don't know."

Bowles and Chaplee discovered their shared taste for wrestling when both attended Waukegan (then East) High School.

On the show, which has run for nearly 11 months, the two analyze results of past matches, give predictions for upcoming events and talk about the locker-room rumors.

The show also has a popular segment when the hosts take viewer phone calls. Recent shows have seen the phone lines packed solid with callers for the whole hour. But the call-in segment can lead to trouble when, like most public-access users experience, the show runs into the foibles of low-budget TV.

"When we were doing our March show, we had a mishap with our phone lines," Bowles says. "The cable system had recently installed call waiting. So when the person we had answering the phones put somebody on hold, they actually got put into call waiting. So the person on the line who we put on the air wasn't who we thought they were."

"We got a lot of crank calls, stuff that you couldn't print in your newspaper. That was probably one of our worst shows." The cable company has since upgraded its phone system, Bowles notes.

The show has high standards, Bowles says. "The quality of the studio is top-grade, grade A," he says. US Cable's Zion studio has three cameras, which gives the show a professional look. And there's room for a studio audience of about 50.

In fact, the studio audience for the taping of the May 20 show still has openings. Those interested can reserve a spot by leaving a message at 623-1737.

In a case of locals helping locals, Bowles and Chaplee have linked up with an independent wrestling promoter based in Chicago, Windy City Wrestling. Windy City's wrestlers are sometimes guests on the show, and this weekend the "Revue" hosts will act as ringside commentators at Windy City matches, set for May 9 at the Waukegan East Gymnasium.

Bowles has high hopes for taking the show to a wider audience.

"That's the goal of every producer, I would imagine, who's doing a show on public access, to take their show as far as possible," Bowles says. Like getting on ESPN? "That's a possibility, but that's just a dream at this point."

Even if nothing bigger comes out of it, Bowles says he can see himself doing the show for a long time.

"I'll do it as long as people watch our show," he says. "Until we can't get the phone lines ringing anymore, that's when we'll call it quits."

SINCE DAD DIED MOM HASN'T BEEN HERSELF. HOW LONG DOES IT TAKE TO GET OVER THE DEATH OF A LOVED ONE?

Questions like this are hard to answer because everyone reacts to the loss of a loved one a little differently. In general we can expect the first year after a death to be most trying. After all, we face each anniversary, birthday and holiday for the first time without our loved family member or friend. These events will be a reminder of our loss and may leave us feeling down or blue. The second year without the deceased may be a bit easier but we can't ever expect to completely forget the love we had. Usually, as the bereaved person gets farther away from the death, and as they learn to do more things on their own and with others, they will begin to feel better.

Lakeland Newspapers

Every now and then, sports types are reminded how "important" softball, baseball, and even football and basketball games are.

There is always the danger of making too much of these "games", something we are all guilty of to one extent or another.

Yet another example of misguided priorities in sport occurred right in our own backyards Saturday.

Overtime

College of Lake County's women's softball team and its counterpart from Triton were locked in a third and deciding game with a trip to regionals at Galesburg at stake.

The Lancers, thanks to two runs in the fourth inning, earned the slim 2-1 margin going into the sixth. Triton challenged with a pair of singles with one out.

Designated hitter Lisa Daldia hit a flyball which fell in between shortstop and the pitcher's mound. Umpires Bob Holliday and Jim Kruschwitz of Gurnee called the infield fly rule as well as runners' interference, ending the inning.

Triton's assistant coach and scorekeeper protested loudly, which is not unusual considering what is at stake. The Triton assistant coach protested a little too loudly. The team's scorekeeper rushed onto the field, threatening the umps with violence.

Some umpires would have let this behavior slide, on the belief that such an important game must go on. But not this pair. They drew the line right there, giving the Lancers a 7-0 forfeit win and a trip to the regionals.

"We were going to beat them anyway," Serdar said.

Because of the forfeit, Serdar was denied her second win of the season. The Warren Twp. High grad gave up a run in the second inning, but settled down, getting six ground-ball outs.

"She had not pitched a whole lot but did a real nice job against the College of DuPage (in the last regular-season double-header). We lost 22 games to the weather and many of those would have been games Kate would have pitched in," CLC Coach Sue Garcia said.

Grant High graduate Denise Barr leads the Lancer pitchers with a 10-5 mark while Mundelein grad Lynette Kowalke is 6-4.

CLC improved to 20-12-1 entering the tournament at Galesburg. CLC was to play Carl Sandburg first Tuesday. The winner if the double elimination, one-day meet plays at the College of DuPage in the state finals this weekend.

The day was a long one for CLC, which lost a chance at a two-game knockout with a 9-7 loss in the second game. CLC had won the first game 9-6.

CLC chalked up 14 hits in the win, highlighted by a seven-run second inning. Nikki Stolarik led the way with three hits and scored three runs. Serdar had two hits. Every position in the batting order contributed at least one hit.

In the second, Stolarik and Serdar had the key hits, RBI singles for a 3-0 lead. Two-run doubles by Caryn Alexander and Kiki Johnson gave CLC an 8-0 lead.

Trailing 9-2, Triton rallied behind a three-run homer in the fifth. They added another in the sixth, but Barr settled down, getting three infield outs in the seventh.

CLC had the hitting in the second game, but not the defense. Seven of the nine runs were unearned.

Serdar, Kowalke and Sheila Osborn had two hits each.

CLC gained the lead in the third game as Osborne leadoff the third with a walk. She later scored after a stolen base and a wild pitch.

Then came the play where the umpires drew the line. Perhaps word will get around to fans, coaches and players that attending a sporting contest is not license to abuse the officials. It's too late for the sophomores on the Triton softball team, who lost a season but now know what can happen.

CLC notebook:

It's been old home week all year for Stolarik and Serdar, Warren grads who bat one-two in the lineup. "It's nice to have someone from the same school you can fall back on," Serdar said.

The Warren angle added another twist as CLC split with College of DuPage, winning 6-5 but losing 5-4 in the second game. Chris Slodnick, a Warren grad, is on the DuPage team. Serdar noticed the potential matchup of Warren grads early. Both teams have had successful seasons - COD was ranked seventh in the region, CLC sixth. Sure enough, Serdar faced her former teammate in the sixth inning.

"It was kind of funny facing Kate. I was expecting a fastball, but she threw me a changeup," Slodnick said. She bounced back to Serdar for an out.

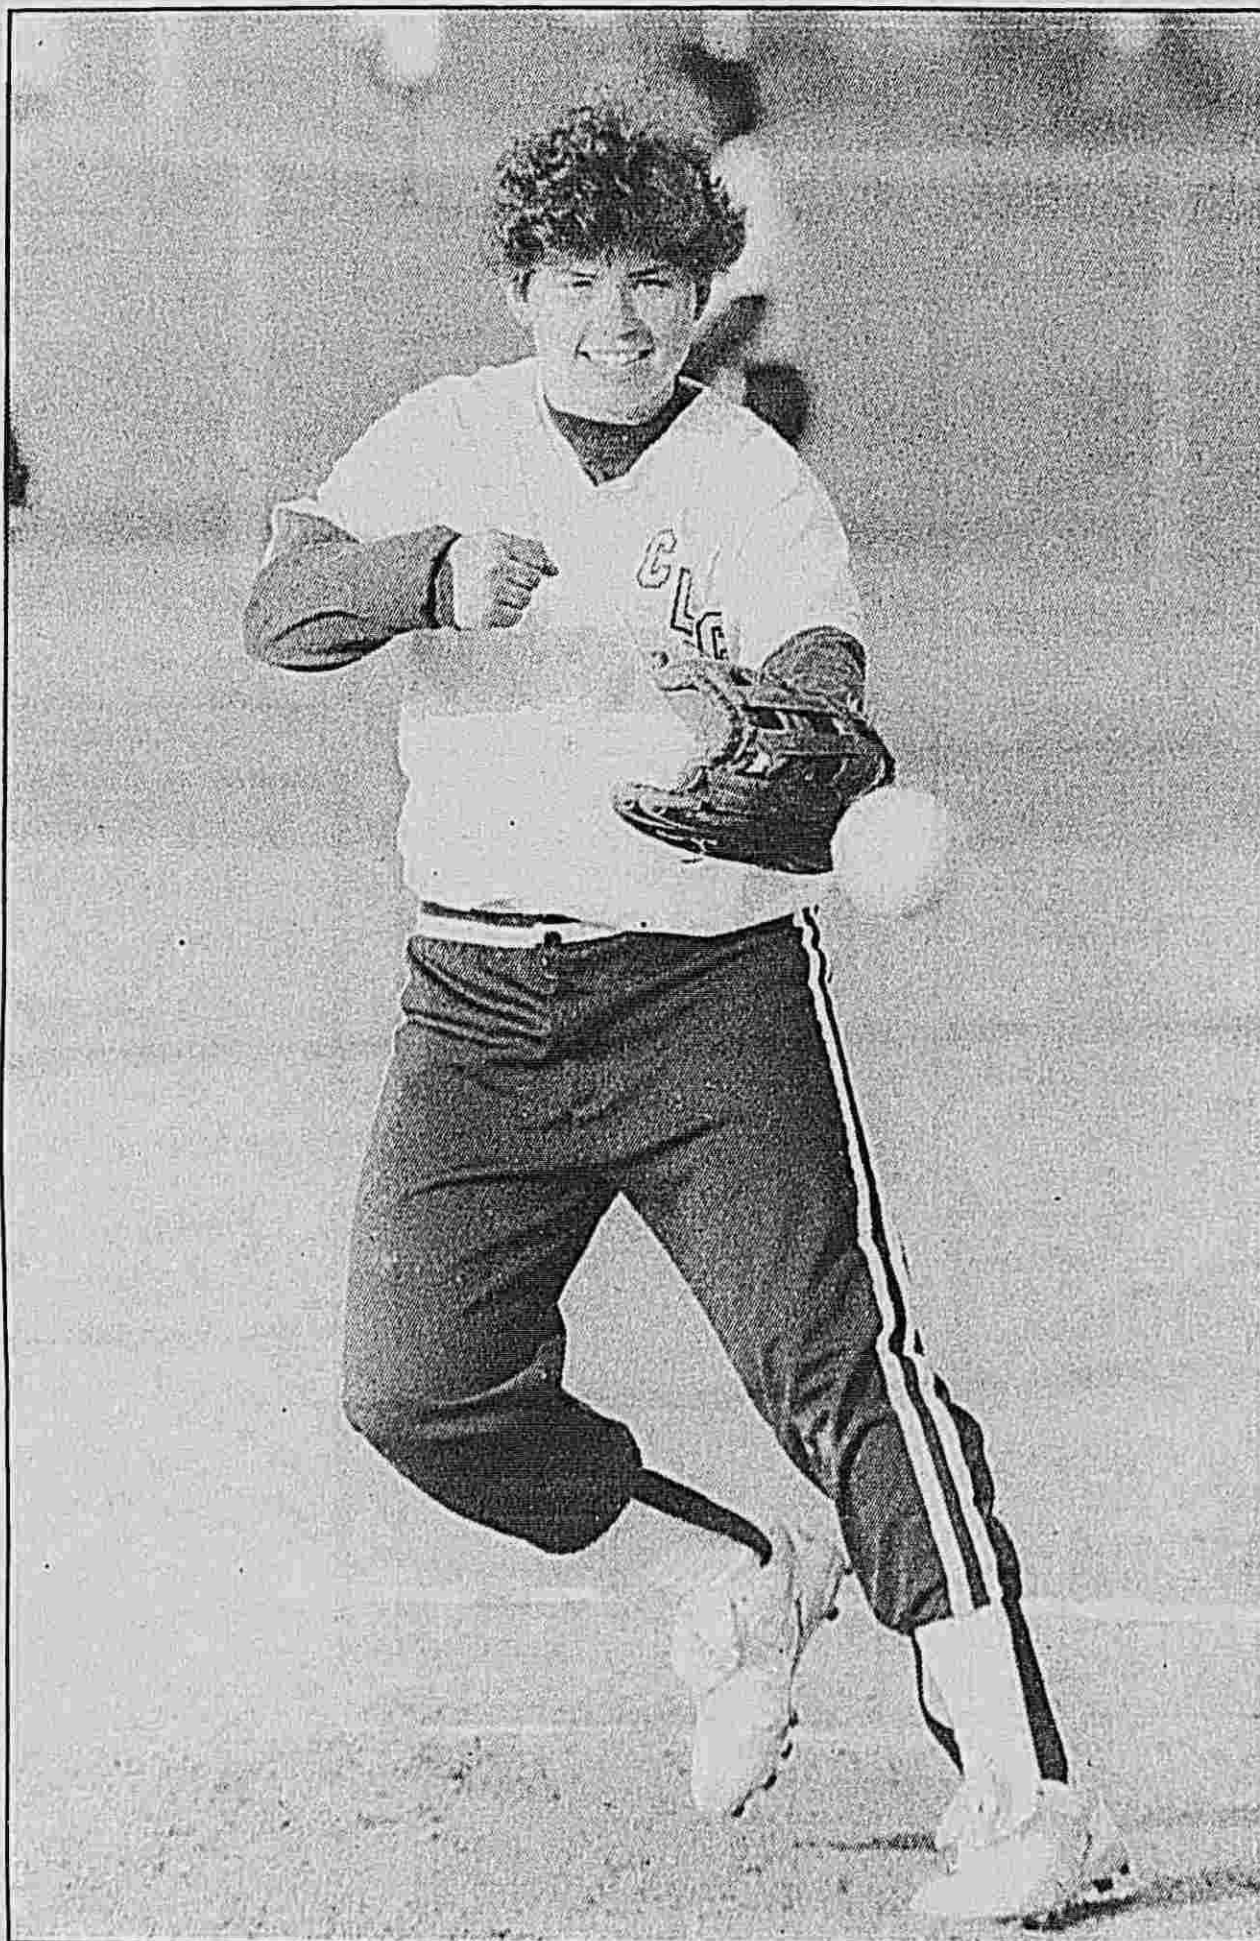

"Jenny (catcher Hagen) came out to talk about how to pitch to her. I said keep the ball low because she is a high-ball hitter," Serdar said.

The three Warren grads - Stolarik joined Serdar and Slodnick - got together briefly to discuss old times at home plate at CLC following the twinbill.

First-baseman Alexander, who says softball is not her sport, hit a home run earlier in the week against Joliet - a grand slam at that. Alexander, of Highland Park, knows her future is in basketball. The hoops standout will play at Northern Illinois University next year.

"It's a nice feeling - everyone really cares," Alexander said of the NIU system.

Alexander led the Lancers to the regional tourney and captured the Most Valuable Player honors in the Skyway Conference as the Lancers went through league opponents unbeaten.

CLC majors in dramatics in gaining state finals bid

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Dan Strom had a look of determination as he stepped to the plate in the bottom-of-the-ninth Sunday.

He had been at the College of Lake County baseball field for eight hours now. Fans had been there almost as long, braving through bone-chilling wind on this 40-degree day in May.

The windburn and the red hands did not seem to matter now.

"We lost to these guys three times and we were so pumped up to try and beat them," Strom, a Libertyville High graduate said.

So with Mark LeGrand on second base after a near home run, Strom took a pitch and hit it over the second-baseman's head for a 7-6 CLC win. The win, coupled with a 9-7 win in the first game, gives CLC a trip to the state junior college baseball tournament, set to begin May 8.

Just a few minutes later, Strom was mobbed by CLC teammates as he pounded a 2-2 pitch over the left-field wall for what looked like a sure thing 6-4 lead.

"He (the Oakton pitcher) drops his head down when he is going to throw the fastball," Strom said.

"Dan has come through a lot this year. He executed that squeeze play earlier. He makes contact on the ball. He is just a really solid ballplayer," CLC Coach Gene Hanson said.

Strom has played every position in his initial year at CLC - including winning two games. "There is nothing he can't do. He had (Steve) Karolewicz are two of the best freshmen I have ever had," Hanson said.

CLC's road to Triton College and the state finals started smoothly, as Greg Weber shutdown McHenry 10-0. A 7-5 loss to Oakton in the second game of the double elimination tournament meant a do-or-die situation against McHenry. The Lancers came through fighting back from an 8-0 deficit with a 14-13 thriller, setting up the twinbill Sunday with the Red Raiders.

John Katalinich was another hero for CLC (31-9). After pitching more than 100 pitches in a loss to Oakton Saturday, he came in relief of Mark LeGrand and held Oakton to one run.

"Coach said after I threw 109 pitches that I could come in if I felt fine," Katalinich said.

Hanson said the "Katman" would not have been able to pitch after such a long outing in two days, but could come back the following day.

Jim Cooney, headed for Texas-Arlington on a baseball scholarship, scattered 10 hits and had six strikeouts in picking up his seventh straight win.

Knights' 1st tryout nearing

Lake County Knights' semi-pro football team will be having its first tryouts Sunday, May 9.

Tryouts will be held at 10 a.m. at a park at Rtes. 60 and 177 in Evanston.

Defensive coordinator Warren Nicholas along with Jerry Mateja and Gary Potempa will be looking for speed, agility, and strength.

Coaches on offense John Carr, Al Clark and Gary Weir will concentrate on power, quickness and aggressive contact.

"I have talked with more than 30 players about our philosophy," Coach Tom Nelson said.

For more information, call Nelson at (708) 223-5231.

Round Lake hurler Hart impresses foes in victory

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers
They say your best compliments come from your peers.
If that is the case, Round

Lake pitcher Derek Hart should sit down with Grayslake Coach Larry Martin. He would like what he would hear.
"He is the best-looking pitcher I have seen all year," Grayslake Coach Larry Martin said of Hart.

Hart had one good week indeed. It started with a near-no hitter in a 9-1 win over Johnsburg and he made it four-for-four with a 10-0, six inning win over Grayslake Monday. The win over rival Rams improved Round Lake to 10-3 overall. Round Lake's Jay Center also had a good week on the mound, downing Wauconda twice.

Hart had a no-hitter going into the seventh inning as he struckout 11 and walked only one Skhawk. He had seven strikeouts and one walk against Grayslake.

Leading the hit parade for Round Lake against Johnsburg was Scott Muellemann (three-for-four, three RBIs); Mike Niemczyk (two-for-three) and Scott Ellenwood (two-for-three).

Grayslake pitcher Bill Zanderowicz did not pitch badly against Round Lake, but unearned runs did him in. Round Lake scored four runs in the first on three Grayslake errors.

Grayslake (4-5, 3-4 NWSC), which hosts Wauconda May 11, downed Johnsburg 4-3 as Zanderowicz gained the win. Steve Taylor and Joe Vavrik led the way with two-RBIs each. Grayslake tied Grant 8-8 as darkness suspended this slugfest. The game will be continued May 15 at Grant. Marian Central edged the Bulldogs 8-7 by scoring six runs in the sixth and one in the seventh. Grant, which also lost to Carmel 9-0, fell to 5-7 overall, 3-2 in the NWSC.

Wauconda made it a clean sweep of the Bulldogs series with a 12-2 win Monday. John Sanew evened his record at 3-3 as Wauconda evened its mark after six games in league play.

Leaders clash at Carmel

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers
Carmel High School's baseball squad will know where it stands more clearly after Saturday.

For the two teams leading the East Suburban Catholic Conference will battle in a 1 p.m. doubleheader at Carmel when Marist comes to town. Marist leads the league at 5-1, while Carmel is tied for second with Notre Dame at 6-2.

Carmel got some strong pitching throughout last week, including shutout wins over Grant and Crystal Lake South in non-conference play and a sweep over Marian Central and split with Joliet Catholic in league tilts.

"We got or almost got complete games when we needed them. We are very pleased with our pitchers," Carmel Coach Chuck Gandolfi said.

The Corsairs improved to 13-5 with a 5-0 win over Crystal Lake South Monday.

Carmel won the second game 4-3 at Joliet Sunday as catcher Joe Keller drove home Dan Devito who singled. Devito was two-for-four in that game. Keller continued his hot bat as his batting average is over .500.

Kevin Conarchy was three-for-three in the second game and followed that with a win on the mound in the South game. Fellow sophomore Brian Buckingham also earned a win in an 9-0 victory over Grant.

John McMahon gained the win in the 10-1 win over Marian Catholic while Buckingham earned another win in the 6-5 win over Marian.

Carmel did drop an 10-1 decision to Holy Cross.

Wasik paces Mustangs

Paced by junior Jon Wasik, Mundelein's gymnastics team made it four straight regional titles, easily outdistancing Niles North Monday.

The Mustangs had 145.3 points to Niles North's 130.3 and qualified for the May 7 Fremd sectional. Libertyville was third with 128.5 points.

Wasik won the floor exercise, still rings, vault, parallel bars, high bar and had an 8.98 average in the all-around.

"There are not to many guys around who can go higher than 8.98. And at state, the judges will appreciate more the difficulty of his routines," Mundelein Coach Doug Foerch said. "He hit everything excellent," Foerch said.

"All we wanted to do was to gain a state berth. I think 145 is a state berth," Foerch said.

Libertyville's highlights included an 8.7 from Chris Wedig in the vault, good for second place. Wedig, a junior, also qualified in the all-around, with a 7.77 average.

Softball roundup*Panthers, Foster hold off rally bid from Mustangs

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

It was not a situation most softball pitchers would like to be in.

On a frigidly cold day in Mundelein, Round Lake's Kathy Foster was facing Mundelein's Tiffany Campbell with runners at first and second and her team clinging to an 11-9 lead.

A 2-2 count pitch went wild, advancing runners to second a third. Terilyn Starkey, who had collected three hits in as many at-bats, was next. A hit would certainly mean Starkey may have a chance to decide the non-conference game.

But Foster bore down, getting Campbell to strike-out and preserving the lead and keeping Round Lake rolling at 10-4 overall.

"I was hoping to get a ground-ball out," Foster said of facing Campbell.

The contest was a more than two-hour marathon and boiled down to which team could take advantage of the others' mistakes. Foster, who had a no-hitter in an 18-2 Northwest Suburban Conference win over Grant, was pitching from behind almost every hitter.

The weather did have an impact as the sun dipped with the temperature. "I had a very stiff arm," Foster said.

"I'm happy we played them. It was the first time we had faced a fast pitcher in quite a while. When you go against slow pitchers, you can develop a false sense of security," Round Lake Coach Howard Schroeder said.

On Foster's performance: "she has been in control the last three games," Schroeder said.

Round Lake gained a 4-0 lead in the early, but MHS tied it in the second and took a 5-4 lead in the third, mostly on walks and wild pitches.

Round Lake scored two runs in the fourth on no hits and increased its lead to 10-5 in the fifth on only one hit, an RBI single by Amy Drinan.

Round Lake increased its lead to the largest margin in the sixth to 11-5, again on no hits.

Mundelein was thankful the game featuring last year's sectional teams did not hamper its quest for a North Suburban Conference title.

Mundelein (11-5) fared much better in NSC action, beating its previous closest rival Lake Forest twice and splitting with Warren. Antioch helped Mundelein out when it knocked off the Blue Devils.

Pam Wiesner picked up her eighth win in the 9-5 first game win Saturday.

"It was a real good week for us. We went 4-1 in the conference against some real good teams," Mundelein Coach Perry Wilhelm said.

Starkey and Wiesner continue to have the hottest bats for Mundelein, both hitting over .500.

Mundelein and Libertyville are planning to makeup a doubleheader at LHS May 9.

Warren Coach Dar Townsend was pleased with the way his team rallied to win the second game behind Jill Chumbley.

"She pitched a solid game and we played solid defense behind her," he said of the 8-4 win.

Chumbley, who had a no-hitter earlier in the week against North Chicago, scattered 12 MHS hits and had three strikeouts.

"She was two hitters away from a perfect game in the contest at North Chicago. She is just a real competitor that has a never-say-die attitude," Townsend said of Chumbley.

Warren is at the Niles West tourney May 9.

Libertyville closed in on the .500 mark at 5-6 with an 8-5 win over Carmel. Alyson Johnson picked up the win.

Railroad history talks

"The Two Railroads of Grayslake" is the topic of the next meeting for the Grayslake Historical Society.

The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. at the community room, 151 Hawley St., on May 13.

A. Robert Topel, Grayslake Area Public Library administrative librarian, will be the guest speaker. He has served in that capacity since 1974 and has master's degrees in both music and library science. Terry Norton, Grayslake Community Park Dist. commissioner, will bring railroad pictures.

The first railroad to lay a track in Grayslake was the Wisconsin Central Railway in 1885. It crossed Lake St. (now Center St.) in the downtown area and companies and the early growth of Grayslake formed along the track. In 1899 the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad built south of Rte. 120 on its way to Madison, WI. The railroad employees stayed at the Grayslake Hotel, a frame structure just east of what is now Fred's Restaurant.

The railroad carried ice, milk, livestock and over goods to the Chicago market, but also during the summer city folks escaped to the country for recreation by area lakes. At that time travel by horse and buggy on mud roads was limited the distance one could travel.

Wisconsin Central Limited is the present name of the first railroad to Grayslake and Metra operates the old C., M. & St. Paul railroad.

The meeting will be the last general meeting until September.

Secretaries organize network

When Gavin School District secretaries were asked by their superintendent and principals to come up with five goals for the 1991-92 school year, Pat McDonald at Gavin South came up with The Secretaries Network.

The Secretaries Network already includes groups from Gavin, Fox Lake, Grayslake, Lake Villa, Big Hollow, Round Lake and Gurnee schools and met last November and this April. Two meetings are planned for next year. Next fall's meeting will be hosted by Grayslake.

The purpose of these meetings is for the secretaries to share insights into making their jobs easier and more efficient.

If any other elementary school secretaries are interested in becoming part of the network, call McDonald at (708) 546-9336.

Patriot booters top at Antioch High

Antioch High's girls soccer team gave the powerful Stevenson squad all it could handle before falling in a tightly contested North Suburban Conference match.

Stevenson stayed on top in the NSC with a 3-2 win, improving to 6-1-1 overall.

Julie Kabb, Megan Chance and Kristen Grant scored goals for Stevenson.

Antioch fell to 8-3 overall, but Coach Charles Trout was pleased with his team's showing.

Shannon Walsh and Liz

Earl scored the Antioch goals. The two teams were tied 1-1 at halftime, but Stevenson scored twice for the 3-1 lead.

Stevenson had downed Barrington 3-2 and earned a 2-2 tie against Libertyville.

Slow Drains?

You'll never have a slow running, or clogged drain again!

The secret? Clean drains don't run slow. The "slows", or periodic clogs, are signals that a thick layer of "gook" is choking your pipes. This gook coats the entire length of your pipe - from sink to sewer, or septic.

Conventional drain openers cannot remove this build up. Even a small tunnel through the waste lets them flow through the pipe, leaving the gook behind!

Now, with just a few minutes each month, you can easily clean out your pipes like new...and KEEP them clean with Plumb Clean®. It clings, and penetrates deep into the gook. No other product has the Plumb Clean® formula. That is what allows it to liquefy even years of build up. Plumb Clean® will clean the entire length of your pipes. It will make your drains run like new, when used as directed. This penetrating action is so revolutionary, Plumb Clean® is money-back guaranteed! Don't be confused. Plumb Clean® is the brand with the guarantee right on the label.

Save Money. A 1 lb. jar of Plumb Clean® holds up to 41 drain treatments. It costs only about 35¢ per treatment.

Independent laboratory studies show Plumb Clean® more effectively breaks down organic waste than all other products tested. So, if your drains have the "slows", get safe, guaranteed Plumb Clean® today! Available only at:

News Anchor Marin gives talks at CLC graduation

WMAQ-TV Channel 5 news anchor/reporter, Carol Marin, will be the keynote speaker at the commencement ceremonies beginning at 2 p.m. Saturday, May 16, at the College of Lake County gymnasium, 19351 W. Washington St., Grayslake.

Marin has distinguished herself as an outstanding journalist, investigative reporter and a news anchor for nearly 20 years. Her work has received local and national recognition. Since she joined Channel 5 in 1978, Marin has won a total of 14 Chicago Emmy awards. She was named

"Best Reporter" in Chicago by AP in 1989 and UPI in 1985 and 1988, and won a national UPI "Best Reporter" award in 1988/89.

Marin was the only Chicago reporter to receive the coveted 1986 Alfred I. DuPont-Columbia Award for her half-hour investigative documentary, "Cicero: Community of Controversy." Her award-winning documentaries include "Grief's Children," a look at the effects of violence on children in urban war zones; "Angel of Fear," a profile of El Rukn gang leader Jeff Fort; "For Beauty Passed Away," a study of the plight of the facially disfigured; and "Harold," a look at the contributions of late Chicago Mayor Harold Washington. The 10 p.m. news, co-anchored by Marin, has been named "Best Newscast" in Chicago by AP and UPI seven times in the past five years.

For the last three years, Marin's aggressive reporting has led to a series of Channel 5 exclusive reports describing the many dimensions of a federal probe into organized crime and political corruption in Chicago's first Ward.

Shoppers to share knowledge

Eight new "Master Food Shoppers" were certified, after completing intensive training, announced Barbara Dahl, Consumer and Family Economics Educator with the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service. They will join the 15 graduates of the 1991 class in volunteering their services to Lake County groups.

Those completing the 1992 training are: Anne Sullivan, Waukegan; Maureen Kiesewetter, Lake Zurich; Patricia Henschen, Gurnee; Doris Hosler, Antioch; Mary Olsen, Grayslake; Maureen Crocco, Wonder Lake; Bonny Jean Yamashita, Wildwood; and Vickilyn Searles Hammer, Lincolnshire.

The newly certified

Master Food Shoppers completed 25 hours of training on such topics as, how to save money at the grocery store by doing comparison shopping, label reading, selecting meat, selection of fruits and vegetables and low cost meal planning.

The training is offered annually as a free service to Lake County residents. As a "pay back," for their training, each Master Food Shopper is required to share what they have learned with their community by volunteering 25 hours of free training to groups and agencies that request their aid.

Groups that have requested help include soup kitchens, food pantries, mother's groups, church women's groups, English as a second language groups, and kitchen workers in several agencies. Master Food shoppers have also given assistance to individual families that have asked for their help.

Each Master Food Shopper tailors their presentation to the group requesting their help. The most frequently requested topics are comparison shopping and how to read and understand food labels.

If your group or agency is interested in scheduling a Master Food Shopper, or you would like more information, call Barbara Dahl, Consumer and Family Economics Educator, University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service, Grayslake Center at (708)223-8627.

Students pass CPA exam

tyville, Priscilla Scott of Highland Park, Barbara Davidson of Winthrop Harbor and Lynn Wetterberg of Lake Villa.

Additionally, two former CLC students, Sally Anderson of Grayslake and Shelly Taylor of Mundelein, passed the CPA exam in May 1991. Nationally, only 25 percent of individuals who take the CPA exam pass all sections on their first try.

For information about CLC's Accounting program, call the Business Division at (708)223-6601, ext. 515.

cause of financial constraints.
